Fire & Emergency Medical Services

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Fire & Emergency Medical Services Program
Fire & Emergency Medical Services is a 5-semester program that prepares students to meet community needs for fire and emergency medical protection. Students may begin the program by scheduling fire courses the first year, or they may choose to begin with emergency medical courses.This program offers Firefighter I and II, EMT and Paramedic certification courses over five semesters. Fire classes follow standards established by the National Fire Protection Association 1001, and the Ohio Department of Public Safety.

Hocking College maintains an on-site fire training facility including fire apparatus, burn structure, and related equipment. Graduates take the Ohio Firefighter Certification exam administered by the Ohio Department of Public Safety. EMT and Paramedic classes follow the curriculum requirements established by the U.S. Department of Transportation. Hocking College EMT program provides a fully equipped EMS vehicle, and medical lab classroom that simulates an emergency room. Students must take the National Registry Exam to be certified at the end of their program.
