IRAP volunteer program – Adam Ritzinger

- Adam responded to an iRAP invitation to work as an iRAP volunteer to help with road safety work in the Philippines.

- Adam worked at the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH), in Manila for two weeks in July 2012, alongside iRAP and DPWH staff.

DPWH office

IRAP volunteer program – Adam Ritzinger

- The work mainly focussed on devising road safety countermeasure and treatment plans, to address the outcomes of iRAP assessments, and inspecting sites.

Site visits – rural roads

Site visits – typical urban highway

IRAP volunteer program – Adam Ritzinger

- Adam also assisted iRAP staff in giving road safety presentations and training on road safety treatments to approximately 60 staff.

- Overall, it was a very rewarding experience – working with locals, helping to address real road safety issues, new and challenging experiences.

Road safety presentations

IRAP volunteer program – Adam Ritzinger

- iRAP kindly acknowledged Adam's valuable input as a volunteer, and recently presented Adam with an award.

- The photo shows Adam receiving the award from Gerard Waldron, ARRB's managing director, on behalf of iRAP's Rob McInerney.