Advanced Data Systems:

The Picture of Health in Healthcare Automation!

When considering systems such as those for practice management (PM) or electronic health records (EHR), or RIS for radiology, very often the emphasis is placed on the systems…functionality, ease of use, user-defined capabilities, and so on.

Obviously that emphasis is important. You want to make certain the system(s) will work correctly for your practice.

But what about the vendor? What's the vendor's history in the industry?

- Have they proven themselves over time?

- Are they stable?

- How many systems of theirs have they "sunsetted" (a euphemism for "ceased   supporting")?

- Will they be there for the long haul?

- How many times have they merged or been acquired?

- How many ownership changes have there been?

- How many names have they had?

The vendor is equally as important as the software, and perhaps more so. After all, what good is having great software if the vendor is weak?

That's why you should consider Advanced Data Systems (ADS).

Not only does ADS produce excellent systems such as MedicsPremier™ for comprehensive ICD-10 PM, MedicsDocAssistant™ for Stage 2 certified EHR, and MedicsRIS™ for radiology, but the company is the picture of health as a healthcare automation vendor!

- ADS began automating medical practices in 1977.

- The company name has never changed.

- Company ownership has been the same since day one.

- ADS has never "sunsetted" a system. In fact, over 300 practices still use their original ADS systems which ADS continues to update.

- ADS has never merged with or been acquired by another company. We remain a solid, debt-free, privately owned, US-based company dedicated to its clients and to the systems we produce.

- Implementation, Training, Support and Updates are provided by ADS and its employees...not by outside or third party companies.

- ADS has never failed to provide required updates prior to their deadline dates...that's hundreds of updates since 1977!

- ADS has a solid history of working with industry partners and for perfecting hundreds of interfaces of its Medics systems to other systems, hospitals, HIEs, labs, diagnostic equipment and more.

Our Medics Solutions Suite is robust, user friendly, and time-tested in the real world.

ADS, as a company, is equally as time-tested and has been relied upon by physicians, medical practices and revenue cycle management (RCM) companies, uninterruptedly for almost forty years.

Contact ADS for more company information, and to schedule a personalized presentation of the Medics Solutions needed by your practice or RCM company.

See why thousands of physicians rely not only on systems from ADS, but on ADS itself
