TECHNOLOGY

TURNING DATA INTO INSIGHTS

Whether you're managing risk, safety or insurance programs, your job is more challenging than ever. More data. Increased business complexity. Greater security risks. Heightened expectations. Less time to respond, and with fewer resources.

Now imagine taking control of your organization's data and getting the clarity you need to make fully informed risk and insurance decisions. Imagine improving your efficiency and maximizing scarce resources—and getting back the time you need to think and act strategically.

It's all possible with Ventiv's RiskConsole risk management information system.

MANAGING YOUR INFORMATION

common challenges

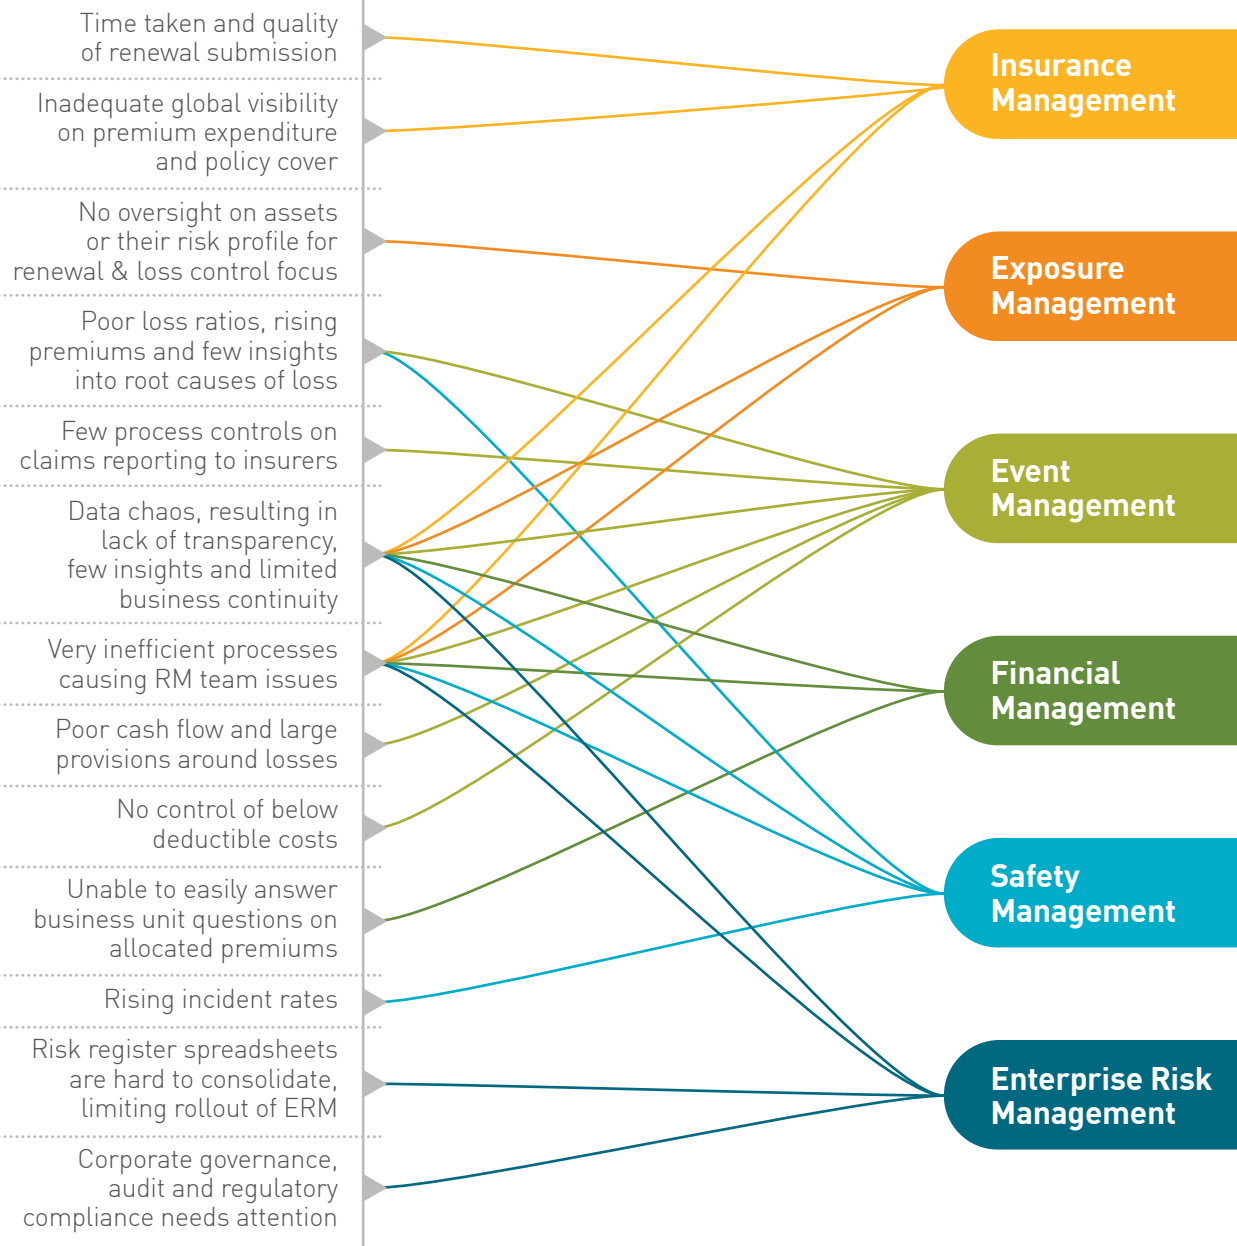

Do these look familiar?

With more than 40 years of experience and unmatched industry expertise, we understand the challenges you face. We also know how those challenges impact your key responsibilities, from managing insurance programs all the way to enterprise risk management.

Traditional methods of turning large amounts of data into reporting and analysis can result in a number of unwanted consequences. The graphic to the right shows some of the more frequently seen issues that arise from over-reliance on disconnected spreadsheets, in-house and/or third-party systems and how they relate to your responsibilities.

RAISE YOUR GAME

optimize TCOR and insurance spend

You really can work harder, smarter and faster with RiskConsole.

Total cost of risk (TCOR) is the ultimate indicator of an enterprise's risk and insurance performance. RiskConsole gives you a comprehensive, accurate picture of your organization's TCOR.

TCOR is invaluable when evaluating insurance spend, renewals and submissions, and producing internal benchmark reports. RiskConsole consolidates all elements of the enterprise's TCOR, including claim, property/COPE, exposure, policy and other risk-related data from multiple external sources and internal systems. Along the way, the benefits add up for you and your team year over year.

1. Make smart, timely and confident decisions

Get the insights you need to make the right risk, insurance and safety decisions at the right time. With confidence in your data and in your analytics and reporting, you can remove uncertainty from the equation.

2. Become more efficient

Make more time for big-picture, high-value activities. Let RiskConsole streamline daily workflows, enhance processes and generate the efficiencies that also result in cost and administrative savings.

3. Engage your organization in risk management

All risk managers know that they're more effective when the entire enterprise is aware of and engaged in risk management. RiskConsole is more than a risk management information system—it's an enterprise platform built to integrate risk management with the rest of the organization.

PERSONALIZATION

RiskConsole is designed to be highly configurable and adaptable to your business processes.

RiskConsole HELPS ENTERPRISES THE WORLD OVER succeed

MOSAIC

Automating exposure- data management

PROBLEM:

With thousands of employees in numerous countries, the U.S.-based phosphate and potash mining company was having difficulty accessing exposure data at a highly detailed level. Manual, spreadsheet-based exposure-data management wasn't working.

SOLVED:

RiskConsole has helped Mosaic automate the process of gathering, compiling and analyzing exposure data across multiple lines. The project has been a very good investment for Mosaic, generating a 42% internal rate of return.

TESCO

Improving customer and staff safety

PROBLEM:

UK-headquartered Tesco, one of the largest retailers in the world, needed to use its risk and insurance data to be able to quickly identify root causes of accidents, target loss-prevention initiatives and help make risk-financing decisions more precise.

SOLVED:

RiskConsole has helped Tesco get control over its claims data and analyze all elements of the claim lifecycle. As a result, Tesco has reduced customer accidents, reduced claim re-open rates and reduced indemnity spend.

AKZONOBEL

Managing complex global data

PROBLEM:

Netherlands-based AkzoNobel, a leading global paints, coatings and specialty chemicals company, needed to utilize data more effectively for its global insurance programs while standardizing and automating processes.

SOLVED:

RiskConsole replaced AkzoNobel's in-house system and lessened the company's reliance on spreadsheets. As a result, AkzoNobel saves 500 hours each year that had been devoted to aggregating data and producing reports while eliminating the need for a full-time IT resource.

ABOITIZ EQUITY VENTURES

Thriving amidst change

PROBLEM:

This Philippine-based conglomerate faced challenges arising from a booming economy and increasingly stringent corporate-governance regulations. Coping with change and, as a result, ensuring long-term sustainable growth became a top priority.

SOLVED:

Aboitiz set a goal of improving its capacity to anticipate and respond as needed to big-picture risk. The company's risk management team plays a big part in those ongoing efforts. Supported by RiskConsole, Aboitiz has improved risk transparency, thus burnishing its already strong reputation for good corporate governance.
