Are your aging parents depending on you for care?

Life changes. Living well should not.

Concerned about the health, wellness and safety of a loved one? Confused about the care options available? When faced with the responsibilities of caring for an aging relative or friend, questions abound. Living Well Senior Solutions provides the answers you need. We serve seniors and family members with the goal of enabling quality living to prevail over the challenges of aging through a process of providing answers, developing a plan, and managing the ongoing care process.

Our professional care managers help you understand the circumstances of their current living situation, as well as the resources available to preserve the dignity, safety and independence of your loved one - helping them live well into the future.

Expert Assessment

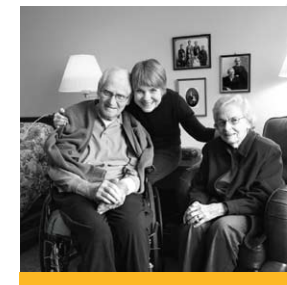

Living Well Senior Solutions' professional care management begins with a complete and thorough analysis that identifies risks, strengths and needs.

Individual Attention

Just as no two people are exactly the same — neither are their situations. We develop custom care plans that are tailored to the specific circumstances of the individual.

Ongoing Coordination

Our professionals are available for continued care management and support for as long as desired and needed to maintain optimal health, safety and independence.

When they need more than you can provide.

Fear, confusion, guilt and frustration are common feelings that can result from the demands of caring for an aging parent or loved one. Many people face uncertainty as to when or how they should take action. If any of the following describe your situation, it might be time to consider talking to one of our professional care managers to see how Living Well Senior Solutions can help you.

- Doctor or hospital visits are excessive or missed regularly
- Managing medications becomes difficult
- An individual shows poor self care and can no longer maintain his or her home
- There is questionable behavior and/or poor judgment
- Family conflict arises over care needs and options
- Care is becoming too difficult for the primary caregiver
- Managing outside services becomes overwhelming
- There are concerns about neglect by a caregiver, physical abuse or financial abuse

The answers you need. The care they need.

Our experienced professional care managers conduct in-home visits and consult with family members, caregivers, physicians and other professionals to provide targeted in-depth assessments and create custom care plans that are tailored to the specific circumstances of the individual. To help carry out those care plans, our professionals are available to provide the following services:

- Ongoing care coordination and management
- Serving as a liaison to out-of-town family members
- Screening for financial, legal, medical, or insurance issues and recommend preferred providers
- Arranging and monitoring in-home assistance
- Crisis intervention (i.e. hospital, nursing home)
- Alternative living arrangement assessment and planning
- Counseling and support
- Emergency availability 24/7
- Healthcare benefits arranged

A network of care.

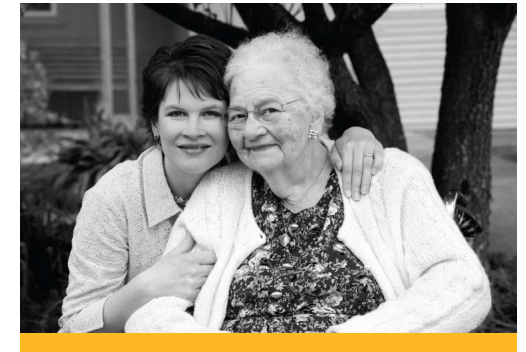

In order to help seniors maintain the highest quality of life, we have relationships with trusted organizations that provide a variety of additional care and professional services including:

- Home care and companion services
- Physical, occupational and speech therapy
- Home maintenance and cleaning
- Assistance managing the impact of dementia
- Healthcare bill auditing, review and payment services
- Medication management
- Nutrition and dietary management
- Pre- and post-hospitalization care
- Financial planning and legal consultation
- Coordinating moving services

A tradition of trust.
