Master of Accounting

In today's competitive business climate, you need to stand out to get ahead. Your goal — and ours — is to ensure you have the training and experience you need to start a job and build a successful career.

At William & Mary, you'll get a hands-on accounting education from engaging faculty with the option to apply your knowledge and skills through an integrated field experience.

Designed to educate both accounting and non-accounting majors, the Master of Accounting program offers many distinct and diverse opportunities.

"The best education decision I have ever made."

— Patrick Burke MAcc '13

Veris CPA Trek — During an annual trip to Washington, D.C., you'll meet top decision-makers at the nation's regulatory agencies to learn more about the critical interplay between the private and public sectors.

Integrated Winter Field Experience — First hand experience connecting your academic studies to the profession while on a paid or unpaid internship during the "busy season."

Select an Emphasis — Choose courses to establish a broad accounting education or follow an Emphasis track to specialize in Taxation, Auditing & Assurance, or Valuation & Advisory.

Summer Bootcamp — This intense series of courses allows non-accounting majors to get up to speed with the prerequisite requirements before the program begins.
