Why Spray Foam Insulation?

When you want to save the most energy in your building, use spray foam insulation. It can lower your monthly heating/cooling costs by up to 50 percent, and it's a "greener" option than traditional forms of insulation – it's usually soy-based and made of natural agricultural byproducts. Our engineers formulate each set of foam to perfection based on the specific conditions of your project.

Your Insulation Is Only As Good As The People Who Install It.

You depend on your insulation for many different things, whether it's to save energy, increase comfort, or install an ABAA approved air and vapor barrier. But first, you depend on a quality company to install the insulation. It's a process that's tricky to do just right, and without a professional team that really understands insulation, it can go off-track quickly.

With Coastal, you can get spray foam insulation that's manufactured and installed by the same company. Our Spray Foam Engineers use your specifications to produce the insulation you need and install it with precision and expertise.

Besides a professional installation of quality insulation, Coastal also gives you:

- Project Preview

Before you get any recommendations from us, we'll get to know you with an in-depth meeting.

- MaxPrice Guarantee

The price on your contract is the most you'll pay for your insulation and installation, unless your specifications change.

- Coastal's Double-Check Program

We'll follow up with you after 90 days to make sure you're still happy with the results.

- The Deadline Promise

Our specialized project milestones mean that we're guaranteed to hit your deadline – or even finish ahead of schedule.

From new construction homes to the complex specialty projects we're known for, Coastal is ready to work with you. Remember, our team of experts manufactures and installs your insulation, so don't trust anyone else to do the job.
