

InfoHub: Accelerating Clinical Data Integration.

InfoHub is a powerful integration engine that delivers advanced inter-system messaging capabilities to hospitals, laboratories and health networks. Designed for rapid and easy implementation, InfoHub enables efficient real-time exchange of electronic data across disparate health IT systems. Deployed in the software as a Service (SaaS) model, InfoHub can aggregate, translate and distribute clinical data without the need for costly hardware investments.

InfoHub: Your interface for outreach growth.

A field-proven interface gateway, InfoHub has been implemented in over 150 demanding hospital and laboratory settings since 1999. InfoHub helps healthcare organizations leverage their current IT investments and provides a single point of data aggregation outside of existing clinical systems. It functions as middleware, connecting these legacy systems with outside entities such as RHIOs and HIEs, and serves as a FOB (forward operating base) from where data can be securely staged for response to external queries without the need to directly access back-end systems. From this FOB data is ready to be pushed to physicians and served in real-time to outside entities. InfoHub collects data across multiple departments and systems for delivery to printers, web-portals, enterprise EHRs and ambulatory EMRs.

InfoHub is your interoperability Hub.

InfoHub is the core integration engine and application platform of Lifepoint Informatics, a healthcare IT company serving hospitals, labs and health networks since 1999.
