

Don't let this happen to you...

It's important to ensure continuity of learning in the classroom so make sure you're covered!

Schools are demanding environments and no environments are risk free. With this in mind Equico has developed Equipment Protect to enable schools to reduce the cost and inconvenience associated with the damage, loss and theft of ICT equipment.

What is Equipment Protect?

With the ever increasing level of technology in schools it is only natural that the risk associated with this technology would increase proportionally. But as students and teachers become more reliant on access to technology the need for equipment cover becomes more and more important.

Equipment Protect is an offering exclusive to schools that seeks to assist schools in reducing the cost of replacing technology.

What does Equipment Protect Cover?

Schools exist in the real world and in the real world things can happen to equipment that was never intended to happen. For this reason Equico's Equipment Protect offers cover against accidental damage, loss as well as theft for ICT products such as iPads, tablets, Chromebooks, laptops, desktops and servers. This helps mitigate those unforeseen mishaps and gives schools peace of mind around their technology equipment.

And more...

How could my school benefit from Equipment Protect?

Many schools have a high excess on their contents insurance and therefore tend not to claim for damage and theft of individual devices, not to mention that excesses tend to increase if ever do need to claim. The down side of this includes increased cost of replacement, loss of use if not replaced and probably the most concerning is the loss of use while a decision is being made about what to do about the device.

Equico's Equipment Protect helps get devices replaced or fixed and back in the hands of students and teachers who need them to learn and teach.

This is done through fast turnaround for claims.
