Stuckey & Company Committed to Helping Agents and Brokers Do More for Insureds

Lake St. Louis, Mo – January 18, 2012 – Stuckey & Company, the managing general agent for the SafetyTek insurance program, is now accepting credit card payments for the SafetyTek program. As part of the free service, Stuckey is providing a credit card payment page that can be customized with the retail partner's logo and customer service information, including telephone number and email address. Credit cards are processed electronically using the authorize.net payment processing system and no fees are charged.

For more than 12 years, the SafetyTek insurance program has provided comprehensive Professional Liability coverage to technology businesses that provide computer consulting services, as well as IT Staffing and other IT related services. The program features broad coverage, low minimum premiums and is competitively priced for even the most complex services.

“Our job is to help our agents and brokers provide their clients the best technology insurance available,” said Dwight Stuckey, President and CEO of Stuckey & Company. “As part of that job, we are continually innovating and offering new platforms to improve agent-client relations.”

According to Maggie Hammett, Lead Underwriter at Stuckey, the co-branded credit card payment page simplifies payments for insureds making the entire process easier for the agent or broker. “As the demand grows for technology E&O liability insurance, it is increasingly important that agents and brokers have the latest platforms at their fingertips” she said.

Insurance agents can get real-time SafetyTek quotes and proposals using Stuckey & Company's online application. Potential insureds can also use the online application and designate a local agent for their coverage. Agents who wish to become a Stuckey Licensed Agent should complete the brief application at www.stuckey.com.

Stuckey's Tek Division is focused on small to mid-sized technology accounts and offers low minimum premiums starting at $1,000 for a $1,000,000 limit.
