

HOW TO STRETCH your DOLLARS for children

The Root

One out of three American children live without their dad.

That's 24 million children, enough to populate New York City three times!

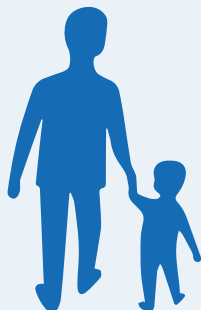

These children are in every community, including your own.

You can help these children, by ensuring your dollars have maximum impact on child well-being.

National Fatherhood Initiative Connects Fathers and Children

We are the go-to source for thousands of organizations to obtain effective fatherhood training, programs, and other resources.

We are a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization relying on contributions from individuals and foundations to improve child well-being and prevent father absence.

Organizations in your community use our resources to reach fathers and help them be the kinds of dads their children need them to be.

NFI builds the capacities of those organizations to offer programs and services for dads, moms, and families.

Our partners include:

All branches of the U.S. Military, National Guard, and Reserve Units

Corrections: State, county, and private prisons/jails; Federal Bureau of Prisons; and state, county, and local reentry programs.

State and Local/County Agencies: Health and Human Services; maternal and child health and welfare programs; and child abuse prevention organizations.

Community-Based Organizations: Community action agencies; head start and healthy start programs; grassroots fatherhood and family service organizations; and schools.

We track our success and impact through:

U.S. Census data; program and project evaluations; number of resources distributed and organizations trained; and case studies, stories of impact and testimonials.
