

Multi-Health Systems Inc. (MHS) expands its line of leading assessments with acquisition of Discovery Learning Inc. (DLI)

TORONTO, December 16th, 2015 – Multi-Health Systems Inc. (MHS), an international leading publisher of scientifically validated assessments, announced today the acquisition of leadership development company, Discovery Learning Inc. (DLI).

With stakeholders in multiple sectors including corporate, clinical and education, MHS now adds DLI's expertise in leadership and organizational development to its continuously growing specialties.

"Today's announcement marks the success of MHS growth and adaptation to the changing needs of our clients and the modern day workforce," said Hazel Wheldon, President & COO, MHS. "We are a company focused on innovation and are excited to have DLI join MHS."

"When you think innovation, think MHS, said Steven J. Stein, CEO, MHS. "It's as important as ever to grow as a digital and globally driven company focused on innovation and we are excited to have DLI's expertise in leadership development and change management as part of MHS."

The acquisition brings together MHS's expertise in a variety of areas including emotional intelligence and personality with DLI's focus on leadership and change management. "We have developed world class resources in the areas of executive and organization development", said Chris Musselwhite, DLI Founder and President. "This acquisition will significantly broaden the reach and impact of our products."

With MHS products sold in more than 75 countries and translated into over 50 languages, individuals and organizations can now capture the benefits of an increased array of assessments.
