„Hotel-Silber“

The oldest dedicated cutlery and serving utensil factory for the hotel industry was founded in Pforzheim in 1863 by brothers Carl and Otto Hepp.

Chemist Carl Hepp discovered a way of developing a process to apply a thick layer of silver to a base material. These new products were to replace pure silver items and withstand rigorous use in the food service industry. The “Gebrüder Hepp 90”, also known as “Hotel-Silber”, quickly gained prominence in leading hotels and ocean liners. As a result of new experiences and continual developments in production, the existing material, Alpaca, was increasingly replaced by the new stainless steel 18/10, which was both versatile and could be silver-plated.

However far back you look in human history, cutlery has always been more than just a functional table utensil. It is this expression of culture and lifestyle that has spawned such a wide range of HEPP stainless steel and silver-plated designs and styles.

Morning, noon or night – HEPP’s high-quality breakfast, breakfast buffet, or afternoon tea and coffee ranges are made for even the most demanding of guests for whom contemporary table culture, and a passion for the extraordinary, are part of their personal philosophy.

In the blue ribbon class of international catering, it is only natural that HEPP products are the clear choice, as nowhere else can such a demand for high quality be found. Our beautifully formed serving utensils turn classic and modern menus and banquets into a glamorous dining experience.

Exclusive table culture for the connoisseur. Whether at banquets or events our established ranges as well as our custom designs, show their versatility and bring the well-known sparkle of HEPP quality to even the most demanding occasion.
