

Is Investment Outsourcing Right for Your Organization?

Today, more organizations than ever are realizing the benefits of outsourcing their investment portfolios. According to aiCIO, 44% of organizations surveyed either currently outsource their investment decisions, or plan to do so in the next 24 months.¹

Originally, growth was driven by institutions with limited resources, whereby the “Outsource Chief Investment Officer” functioned true to its name. While this type of outsourcing was originally adopted by resource-limited institutions, subsequent growth in the OCIO model has come from a broad range of investors including those with internal staffs and substantial assets who view the model as a complement to their existing investment programs.

Outsource Investing with FEG Provides a Wealth of Benefits

Outsourced Chief Investment Officer (OCIO) services represent a discretionary investment model whereby Fund Evaluation Group, LLC, (FEG), acts as a fiduciary, managing portfolios on behalf of our clients.

The service developed as a solution to our institutional consulting clients who liked the customization of the traditional consulting model, but desired clearer lines of accountability and more consistency in the investment process.

ACCOUNTABILITY

The FEG OCIO model is a documented and defined decision-making process, so clients know who has discretion over every aspect of their portfolios. FEG is accountable for both portfolio management and operational support.

- Portfolio management: The OCIO model leverages FEG’s strengths, including asset allocation and manager selection expertise, deep industry knowledge, and more than 25 years’ experience constructing portfolios. Our dedicated research teams provide clients with access to high-quality investment options and alternative and uncorrelated asset classes, all of which can help manage portfolio risk and enhance the potential for higher returns.
- Operational support: FEG makes it easy to implement an active and disciplined management structure that frees up our clients to focus on the mission and needs of their organizations. We provide cost-effective, back-office support such as rebalancing, managing cash flows, donor gifts, funding capital calls, and trading. This built-in operational support offers potential cost savings compared with hiring an in-house investment management team.

The OCIO structure allows us to respond efficiently to market opportunities, rather than waiting for the approval of an investment committee that meets on a monthly or quarterly basis. This helps our clients maximize implementation effectiveness.

FLEXIBILITY AND CUSTOMIZATION

Unlike many OCIO models, FEG customizes portfolios based on our clients' unique needs. We work with each client to determine liquidity constraints, risk tolerance, and other restrictions. Once these are thoroughly understood, we are able to design an investment policy and develop a customized asset allocation framework needed to best support the client's specific risk/return and liquidity needs.

FEG's asset allocation framework for managing portfolios is diversified by drivers of risk, or risk factors, and not by number of asset classes. FEG focuses on four global asset categories, each with a unique, relevant risk factor and corresponding role, or value, to risk mitigation. Specific allocations to each asset category are determined through an understanding of our clients' unique needs.

ASSET CATEGORIES	ROLE	RISK
GLOBAL EQUITY Stocks, Private Equity, Long/Short Hedge Funds	Total Return	Stock Market Declines
GLOBAL FIXED INCOME AND CREDIT Bonds, Bank Loans, Credit Hedge Funds	Equity Risk Mitigation and Total Return	Rising Rates and/or Credit Downgrades
REAL ASSETS Real Estate, Natural Resources, Infrastructure	Inflation Protection and Total Return	Deflation
DIVERSIFYING STRATEGIES Event Driven, Relative Value, Macro	Diversification and Total Return	Active Management

Clients may customize the following aspects of investment portfolio construction:

- Asset allocation
- Liquidity
- Active or passive management
- Manager selection
- Risk profile

DEFINING CLIENT OBJECTIVES → BUILDING A CUSTOM SOLUTION

FEG begins each new outsourced CIO relationship by exploring a series of inquiries with the client, which include:

- What is the capacity for investing in mandates that are liquidity constrained?
- Is the outsourced relationship conditional in any way (i.e., the governing fiduciaries will retain manager selection approval on private equity funds)?
- What are the return needs and risk considerations for each pool of assets that must be met in order to limit mission-disruption risk?

Once client objectives are understood, FEG recommends investment policies and asset allocations to help meet the clients' unique needs. The OCIO model leverages FEG's strengths in asset allocation and manager selection to help our clients build a portfolio that meets their unique characteristics.

Asset Allocation

- FEG focuses on four global asset categories, each with a unique risk factor and corresponding role to seek risk mitigation
- Specific allocations to each asset category are determined through an understanding of our clients' unique needs

Manager Selection

- Recommended managers are unaffiliated with FEG, and pass a rigorous approval and ongoing monitoring program
- Access to best-in-class managers
- Active or passive management

CONSISTENCY

Many investment committees have limited time, experience, and/or access to investment resources. FEG's OCIO services provide a consistent, disciplined investment process. Investment decisions are made and implemented when the opportunities are best, without constraints of periodic committee meetings and approvals. As a result, investment performance has a better chance of achieving stated objectives.

Looking at the S&P performance over the past 20 years, a new committee member would have a different perspective on the market and appropriate strategy if they joined in the bull market of 1995 vs. the bear market of 2001.

By serving as a consistent voice despite market and board turmoil, FEG provides a balanced, long-term perspective.

PROVIDING OPERATIONAL EFFICIENCY

FEG provides back-office support:

- Daily account monitoring
- Trading and rebalancing
- Implementing investment strategy
- Relationships with custodians
- Weekly monitoring for compliance with the IPS
- Ongoing client support
- Assistance with securities gifting
- Capital Call Monitoring

FEG SERVES AS A CONSISTENT VOICE

FEG seeks to protect the long-term vision of the client and remains a consistent voice throughout all market environments.

Further, FEG helps new committee members understand the investment policies put in place by previous committee members.

CLEAR DELINEATION OF ACCOUNTABILITY

The client and FEG work together to set the policy. Performance, within the policy guidelines, is fully on FEG.

FEG is accountable for daily operations. Our service quality is measured both by direct feedback from the client, and by a third-party client satisfaction surveyor.

WHERE SHOULD YOU BEGIN?
