

Meeting today's rigorous Government IT requirements with TransparentChoice GTS

Government Agencies are under more scrutiny than ever. The ability to prove you're delivering maximum value for money from your IT investments has never been more important.

Understanding the steps needed to comply and to pass Government audits can be challenging. Even with CIO Council of Best Practices Committee recommendations using the OMB 300 isn't straight forward. Principles of Execution and TransparentChoice have developed the GovToolSet (GTS) to help you through the process.

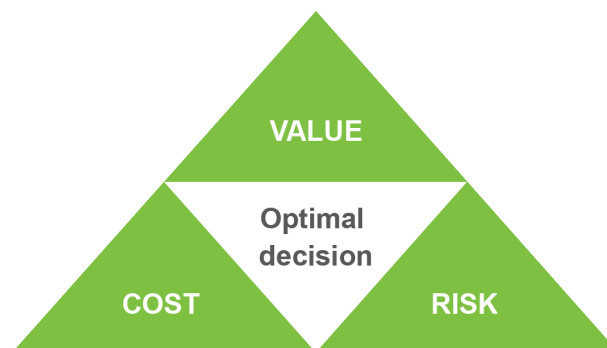

Mitigate failure with TransparentChoice GTS

TransparentChoice GTS makes the task of quantifying value for money for IT investments quicker, more transparent and auditable.

TransparentChoice GTS online software helps you comply with CIO Council of Best Practices Committee recommendations by delivering:

- Clear understanding of what "value" means in the context of your mission
- Appropriate accounting for risk and value for money appropriately
- Clear visibility into the benefits of each investment
- Buy in from all stakeholders, including end-users / citizen representatives
- Insight into a balanced portfolio that supports your mission
- Real time reporting and accelerated decision-making

The Government decision framework

The three mandatory drivers for IT investment decisions are cost, value and risk.
