

Online Health and Safety Training from UL

United Kingdom and Ireland Courses

Creating the safest conditions for your employees is more than just doing what's required; it takes a commitment. Because returning your colleagues safely home to their families every day is an obligation. UL's eLearning is uniquely designed to help you meet this obligation. It begins with our commitment to stay current, relevant, and proactive with our up-to-date library of environmental, health, and safety online courses developed in partnership with Olive Learning, specifically for the United Kingdom and Ireland, in line with the most recent government guidelines.

Course List

Each course is created by subject matter experts and adult learning specialists. Their focus is environmental health and safety research and instruction, staying ahead of regulatory changes and building and updating online courses applicable to more than 20 industries.
