FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Janus Introduces New Portable Storage Structures

(Temple, GA – September 17, 2008) Janus International has introduced MASS, a new line of Movable Additional Storage Structures. The structures are built on a 10'x20' platform and can be configured in a variety of unit sizes to offer self storage managers an economical means of adding more storage space. MASS units are constructed of standard self storage building materials and utilize full size, 26 gauge roll up doors. Units are movable with a 5,000 pound capacity forklift and can be pre-built or constructed on-site. Because they are movable, MASS units allow storage to be placed in areas that may not traditionally be granted a building permit, offering flexibility and affordability.
