FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JanUS Door Issues Environmental Promise

(March 30, 2009 - Temple, GA) JanUS Door, a leading manufacturer of coiling sheet doors and rolling steel doors, has issued a brochure outlining their Ever-Green environmental practices. "JanUS has taken the environment into consideration before we even opened our doors for business," states David Curtis, President. "We planned from the onset to reduce waste, utilize eco-friendly materials and partner with vendors who are like-minded in their practices."

The JanUS Door Ever-Green Promise states, "To produce high-performance sustainable building products through environmentally sound manufacturing processes and effective waste reduction."

For more information on JanUS products, services and practices, please visit our website at www.janus-door.com.
