Continental Office knows that even the most inspiring spaces are only as great as the ideas that are created inside them and the purposes they serve. Beautiful spaces only matter if they work. That's why the team creates smart environments that inspire the passionate leaders, analytical problem-solvers, and creative go-getters who inhabit them. Continental Office serves a diverse market in the Corporate, Healthcare, Government and Education sectors across Ohio and Western Pennsylvania. These spaces inspire creativity, promote wellness and bring life to the environments in which we work, learn and heal.

Founded in Columbus in 1939, Continental has moved far beyond the traditional furniture business it was at its inception. When CEO Ira Sharfin first came to Continental 10 years ago, he immediately realized the company's associates were not only the key to their success, but also the vehicle to grow the company. "It's the knowledge and collective talents of our team, along with a dedication to go that extra mile for our clients, that really sets us apart," said Sharfin. "On the surface, Continental is dynamic in the sense that we provide furniture, flooring, modular walls, branding and workplace services to hundreds of clients. However, I believe it's our associates' approach that truly makes a difference. We don't just look at it as an office, hospital or school. By understanding your vision, purpose and culture – the things that really matter – we can work together to create incredible spaces that allow your business and employees to prosper."
