Executive Summary

Globe Runner, leading SEO and SEM experts based in Dallas, sought to research how keyword-rich new gTLD domain names affected the SEM value of an online property. In other words, would naming a domain with a new gTLD (in this case, .BEST) rather than the traditional .COM have a positive statistical impact on a website?

Based on our testing and research of a series of domains on Google throughout May 2016 (testing which included hundreds of keywords and thousands of impressions), Globe Runner arrived at the conclusion that the .BEST domain conferred a tangible benefit over the .COM domain in online advertising efforts.

Our research shows that you can save money and reduce your cost per lead by using one of the new gTLD domain names.

Particularly in the moving industry, the .BEST domain name allowed us to save dollars-per-click within Google AdWords. In the long-term, after thousands of clicks, this price difference would make for significant savings.

Expert Feedback

"The results of your experimentation clearly demonstrates that user awareness of TLD's extends to GTLD's too and they are not just a novelty item to get more type-in traffic. As a result, I think it is wise for business owners and marketers to also consider available GTLD domain names when considering how to register their business websites." – Eli Schwartz, Director of Marketing, Survey Monkey

"I love the idea of using new gTLDs to increase your AdWords CTR and lower your average CPC" - David Iwanow, SEO Expert

"10% of your CPC might only be a dollar, but an accident attorney could save a lot" - Scott Hendison, CEO, Search Commander, Inc.

"It's refreshing to hear another search engine strategist weigh in on the argument of .com vs any other TLD, and even more refreshing to have it backed by data. I am not at all surprised that .BEST domains received higher CTR." – Steve Wiideman, President and Senior Strategist, Wiideman Consulting Group

"This is an interesting result, worthy of a more rigorous test." - Daniel Thies, Founder and CEO, Marketer's Braintrust

New gTLD Domain Names

Since the beginning of the Internet, we've been mainly using three main Top Level Domains (TLDs) for our websites: .COM, .NET, and .ORG. There are other TLDs that have been introduced that we're all familiar with, such as .EDU and .GOV. It's been fairly easy for us to register .COM, .NET, and .ORG domain names. You have to be associated with an educational institution or a government entity to secure a .EDU or a .GOV domain name. And then there are the others that have been available for quite some time now, such as .INFO, .BIZ, and .TV. We typically are used to the top three, though, and those websites currently make up a majority of what we see in the search engine results pages, such as in Google's search results.

In countries outside of the USA, at an international level, the Country Code Top Level Domains (ccTLDs), are widely accepted now, including .co.uk (United Kingdom), .es (Spain), .com.au (Australia), .ca (Canada), and .it (Italy). Depending on the location of your business, a ccTLD makes perfect sense as an alternative to .com. Since January 2014, there are literally hundreds of new Generic Top Level Domains (New gTLDs) coming available, and many are already available for registration.

As leading SEO and SEM experts based in the Dallas, Texas area, Globe Runner wanted to find out, first-hand, which TLD (or new gTLD) performs better from a website marketing or search engine marketing perspective. Going forward, since there are so many new gTLDs being introduced, it's our job to give our clients the best advice that we can give: and the only way to know that we are giving our clients good advice is to perform tests, look at the data from those tests, and make recommendations. We must use real-world data and real-world examples, in order to get the best, most accurate information we can obtain. At Globe Runner, we're always watching the results of our marketing efforts, and adopting our marketing strategies based on those results.

For the purpose of testing the overall marketing performance of .COM domains versus new gTLD domain names, we thought that it would be important and most appropriate to use Google AdWords, a leading source of paid internet traffic. Using Google AdWords for our tests was the most logical source, since we could get campaigns up and running quickly, and we could analyze the data. We could determine the ad copy, the keywords used, control the amount of our spend, and see the results. We could see the Click-Thru Ratio (CTR), the number of impressions, the number of actual clicks to the website, and, most importantly, the number of conversions.

By using Google AdWords, we are able to determine if it makes sense to use a .COM domain name or a new gTLD domain name.

For the purpose of our testing, we used the following domain names: DallasRoofer.Best, DallasRooferBest.com, DallasMovers.Best, DallasMoversBest.com, DallasDentist.Best, DallasDentistBest.com, DallasFencing. Best, DallasFencingBest.com, DallasAirConditioning.Best, DallasAirConditioningBest.com

We specifically used the Dallas market because Globe Runner is based in Dallas—and we are familiar with the overall market. We felt, for the purpose of these tests, that we would include five different distinct industries that are competitive. There are plenty of companies competing for the local business in the Dallas area, especially in roofing, moving, dentistry, fencing, and air conditioning.

Based on our initial keyword research, we selected these industries because it appears that people typically search for the "best" providers of these services. So, it would be logical that someone would use the word "best" in their domain name when describing their business.

The Tests

When we ran our search engine marketing test campaigns in May 2016, with the ultimate goal of making sure that the only difference between the domain names we put against each other was only the domain name itself. So, we made sure that everything: the ad copy, the keywords, the amount of the bids, and even the landing pages were exactly the same. The only difference was the domain name used. The domain name appears in the ad copy as the "display URL" but also is the actual page we sent the traffic to, which was important. Let's take a look at the actual test data.

The Ad Copy We Used

First, here is the ad copy that was used in each test of the .Com versus .Best domain names. As you can see in the ad, the traffic and clicks went to the appropriate domain name shown in the ad. For this test, we used two different ads for each of the campaigns.

Here are the ads that we used for the DallasAirConditioning.Best Google AdWords campaign:

Best AC Company in Dallas Want To Find The Best Air Conditioning Company In Dallas? DallasAirConditioning.Best Find The Best AC Company Need To Find The Best AC Company In The Dallas Area? DallasAirConditioning.Best

Here are the ads we used in the DallasAirConditioningBest.com ads:

Best AC Company in Dallas Want To Find The Best Air Conditioning Company In Dallas? DallasAirConditioningBest.Com Find The Best AC Company Need To Find The Best AC Company In The Dallas Area? DallasAirConditioningBest.Com

Again, as you can see, we used two different headings and two different descriptions, resulting in four different ads for each of the BEST campaigns. In this case, we chose optimized ad delivery, which is Google's recommended setting.

Campaign Settings and Notes

There were a few additional campaign settings that we used in the tests. We used the search network only on Google AdWords, and no display ads were used. We did not use Ad Extensions. There were some differences in what we bid per click per campaign—we had to make sure that we bid high enough so that our ads would show up towards the top of the results. In any case, the bids were the same for all keywords and the same on the .BEST keywords as they were on the .COM keywords. Some topics cost us more per click and others were cheaper per click on the average. This data is shown in the results.

Most of all, though, having our ad show on the first page of search results was important to us. When we present the actual results later in this document, you will see the "Average Position" of each ad.

The Landing Pages We Used

As you can see, each of these ads sent traffic to their respective domain names (either the .com domain name or the new gTLD domain name). Each of these landing pages are still "live", so you can go to these sites and see the landing pages.

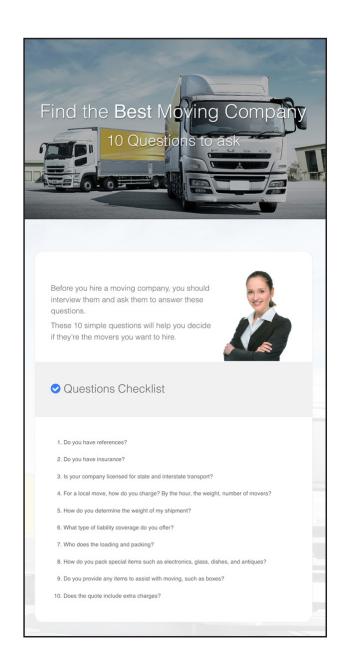

DallasRoofer.Best, DallasRooferBest.com, DallasMovers.Best, DallasMoversBest.com, DallasDentist. Best, DallasDentistBest.com, DallasFencing.Best, DallasFencingBest.com, DallasAirConditioning.Best, DallasAirConditioningBest.com

On the landing pages, the landing page used on the .BEST domain name was the same as it was on the .COM domain name during our test period.

Below is a sample landing page that was used on both the DallasMovers.Best and DallasMoversBest.com campaigns. These landing pages across all topics are essentially the same—the graphic at the top of the page and the list of questions was tailored to each industry.

We initially had some issues with Google accepting these landing pages for use in our Google AdWords campaigns. We did have to adjust them and work with representatives from Google to understand why they were initially not accepted. However, we did get these issues resolved with Google. We would like to have been able to use different versions of the landing pages, but for testing purposes it was necessary to use the same type of landing page across all of the domain names. Going forward, if you are running campaigns such as these we would recommend using several different landing pages and different versions of each page, such as moving the location of the contact form and other information provided on the page.

The Results

AAfter we ran our Google AdWords campaigns for a specific period of time, it was clear to us, in many aspects, that the .BEST domain names outperformed the .COM domain names in certain key areas. For example, when it comes down to overall cost, we found that we can pay less if we use a .BEST domain name than a .COM. The .COM clicks overall, across multiple campaigns and across multiple industries, are more expensive. And, in some cases, we even got more clicks on the .BEST domain names than we did on the .COM domain TLD that we used.

The variations of Quality Scores between the two groups showed no statistical significance.

Overall, how did the .BEST ads do as compared to the .COM ads on Google AdWords? Here are the results: Google AdWords .Best VS .Com

| AdWords All .Best |        |
|-------------------|--------|
| Total Impressions | 5398   |
| Total Clicks      | 80     |
| Average CTR       | 1.48%  |
| Average CPC       | $9.14 |
| Average Position  | 2.0    |

| AdWords All .Com  |        |
|-------------------|--------|
| Total Impressions | 5854   |
| Total Clicks      | 72     |
| Average CTR       | 1.23%  |
| Average CPC       | $9.95 |
| Average Position  | 2.0    |

Ultimately, when it came to Google AdWords, the .BEST campaigns cost us nearly $1.00 or 8.9% less per click than when we used a .COM domain name in our ads. The number of impressions, the number of clicks we received, and the average position was close—yet we got a better average position on the .BEST ads. The average CTR was a little less on the .BEST ads, and we'll want to dive into the actual keywords and number of clicks to see if there are any particluar keywords or industries that are skewing these results.

Here are the overall results for each campaign on Google AdWords:

Google AdWords Campaign Results

| Campaign                      | Clicks | Impr. | CTR   | Avg. CPC | Cost       | Avg. pos. |

| DallasFencing.Best            | 14     | 358   | 3.91% | $8.17   | $114.41   | 1.2       |
| DallasFencingBest.com         | 17     | 432   | 3.94% | $7.22   | $122.69   | 1.2       |
|                               |        |       |       |          |            |           |
| Total                         | 152    | 11188 | 1.36% | $9.53   | $1,448.15 | 2         |

Below are the results from our testing, showing the results from each of the .BEST and .COM ads, across each industry:

| AdWords DallasMovers.Best |        |
|---------------------------|--------|
| Total Impressions         | 1780   |
| Total Clicks              | 26     |
| Average CTR               | 1.46%  |
| Average CPC               | $9.41 |
| Average Position          | 2.50   |

| AdWords DallasMoversBest.com |         |
|------------------------------|---------|
| Total Impressions            | 1940    |
| Total Clicks                 | 20      |
| Average CTR                  | 1.03%   |
| Average CPC                  | $11.93 |
| Average Position             | 2.50    |

For the moving company Google AdWords test, we got more impressions on the .COM moving ads on Google AdWords, but the .BEST didn't require as many impressions to get more clicks. The average CTR on the .COM was lower, and the prices were nearly $2.50 or 26.7% more per click on the .COM ads. Personally I would use a .BEST domain to advertise my moving business because I can get more clicks on Google AdWords for $2.50 cheaper. The average position was the same.

DallasAirCondition.Best VS DallasAirConditioningBest.Com

| AdWords DallasAirConditioning.Best |        | AdWords DallasAirConditioning.Best |         |  |
|------------------------------------|--------|------------------------------------|---------|--|
| Total Impressions                  | 819    | Total Impressions                  | 873     |  |
| Total Clicks                       | 15     | Total Clicks                       | 12      |  |
| Average CTR                        | 1.83%  | Average CTR                        | 1.37%   |  |
| Average CPC                        | $9.82 | Average CPC                        | $10.96 |  |
| Average Position                   | 2.10   | Average Position                   | 2.20    |  |

For air conditioning ads on Google AdWords, we got about the same number of impressions (876 on the .COM and 819 on the .BEST). Overall, we ended up getting more clicks for $1.14 or 11.6% less when we used the .BEST domain. The average CTR was higher on the .BEST ads. But getting more clicks for less money in the long run is enough for to convince us to use a .BEST domain name if we were advertising our air conditioning business. The average position was nearly the same.

DallasDentist.Best VS DallasDentistBest.Com

| AdWords DallasDentist.Best |        | AdWords DallasDentistBest.com |        |
|----------------------------|--------|-------------------------------|--------|
| Total Impressions          | 2387   | Total Impressions             | 2605   |
| Total Clicks               | 25     | Total Clicks                  | 23     |
| Average CTR                | 1.05%  | Average CTR                   | .88%   |
| Average CPC                | $9.01 | Average CPC                   | $9.73 |
| Average Position           | 1.70   | Average Position              | 1.60   |

In the case of Google AdWords ads for dentists, the .BEST and the .COM ads got about the same number of impressions, with 218 more impressions on the .COM ads. We ultimately got more clicks on the .BEST ads for less cost per click. The average CTR was higher on the .BEST ads in this case. The average position was higher on the .COM ads. All in all, we'd put our money into using a .BEST domain name because we get more clicks for less cost (about 7.9% cheaper) on our ads.

DallasFencing.Best VS DallasFencingBest.Com

| AdWords DallasFencing.Best |        | AdWords DallasFencingBest.com |        |
|----------------------------|--------|-------------------------------|--------|
| Total Impressions          | 358    | Total Impressions             | 432    |
| Total Clicks               | 14     | Total Clicks                  | 17     |
| Average CTR                | 3.91%  | Average CTR                   | 3.94%  |
| Average CPC                | $8.17 | Average CPC                   | $7.22 |
| Average Position           | 1.20   | Average Position              | 1.20   |

We were surprised at the high CTR on the .BEST ads for fencing. While the CTR on the .COM Google AdWords for fencing was high as well, it was only .54% higher click-thru rate on the .COM ads. We did see a higher CPC for the .BEST ads. We'd like to see more data before we make a decision on using a .COM or a .BEST domain for fencing.

For all of the Google AdWords ads, we got about 400 more impressions on the .COM ads. However, we ultimately got more clicks on the .BEST ads than we did on the .COM ads. Furthermore, while the overall CTR was about .25 percent better on the .COM ads, we ended up spending $.72 less on using a .BEST domain name and we got more clicks. The average position across all of the ads using a .BEST domain name was the same. If we were going to be using Google AdWords to advertise our business, we would go with a .BEST domain name because we got more clicks for less money using a .BEST domain name.

Final Thoughts

Our overall goal when setting up these tests was ultimately to determine whether using a .BEST domain name or a .COM domain name is better when it comes to search engine marketing on Google AdWords. After having run multiple tests across hundreds of keywords, thousands of impressions, and multiple industries, we can honestly say that we prefer to use a .BEST domain name than the .COM domain name in our pay per click advertising efforts.

Ultimately, if we had to decide whether to use a .BEST new gTLD domain name extension or a .COM domain name for our Google AdWords campaigns, we would choose to use a new gTLD domain.

Resources

We've compiled several resources, including definitions, links to articles, and websites that are helpful when understanding new GTLDs and search engine marketing.

Definitions

TLD – Acronym for Top Level Domain. A top-level domain (TLD) is one of the domains at the highest level in the hierarchical Domain Name System of the Internet. The top-level domain names are installed in the root zone of the name space. See http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Top-level_domain

New gTLD – Acronym for new Generic Top Level Domain. The "new" gTLDs are considered to be TLDs that have been released after January 2014.

Search Engine Marketing - Search engine marketing (SEM) is a form of Internet marketing that involves the promotion of websites by increasing their visibility through paid keyword advertising. Search Engine Marketing is often referred to as PPC (Pay Per Click) advertising. Search Engine Marketing is different then Search Engine Optimization, as SEO (search engine optimization) typically involves optimzing websites so that they appear higher in the search engine results pages. SEM involves paid search (PPC) only. Popular SEM platforms are Google AdWords (https://adwords.google.com/)and Microsoft AdCenter (now called Bing Ads http://advertise.bingads.microsoft.com)

CPC – Acronym for Cost Per Click. The cost-per-click (CPC) is the amount you earn each time a user clicks on your ad. The CPC for any ad is determined by the advertiser; some advertisers may be willing to pay more per click than others, depending on what they're advertising. #### The Keywords We Used

For each Google AdWords campaigns, it was important to us to not only use the same ad copy in the ads, but also to make sure that we used the same keywords in each of the campaigns. We did some preliminary keyword research, and decided on a list of keywords that had enough searches per month to give us enough data to work with.

For the Air Conditioning campaign, we used the following set of keywords:

| Keyword                                      | Campaign              | Ad group |

Which New gTLDs are Available?

I've already mentioned that the main TLDs, .com, .net, and .org are being joined by hundreds of new gTLDs. There are a lot of them that already available for registration, meaning that they have gone through all of the required processes in order to be accepted by ICANN, the organization that "regulates" domain names: and you can go right now and register any available domain names with these extensions. Keep in mind that during the days leading up to the release of these domains, many domain investors and trademark owners have already registered some of them:

.today .technology .tips .land .kitchen .contractors .diamonds .construction .clothing .camera .careers .directory .enterprises .guru .holdings .gallery .equipment .estate .bike .recipes .sexy .shoes .plumbing .photos .lighting .singles .tattoo .voyage .みんな (Japanese for Everyone) .ventures

From January 2014 to September 2014, over 2.2 million new gTLD domain names were registered (http://ntldstats. com/tld). Two years later, as of May, 2016, nearly 18 million new gTLD domain names have been registered. This is significant, as our first white paper, published in September 2014 we reported that 2.2 million new gTLD domain names had been registered. From September 2014 to February 2015 over 2 million more new gTLD domain names havef been registered. The pace of new registrations continues to rise.

.BEST vs .COM CASE STUDY

As of May 2016, .XYZ has the most domain name registrations of the new gTLD domain names with over 2.8 million domain names now registered. Other New gTLDs with a large market share are .TOP, .WANG, .WIN, .CLUB, .LINK, and .SITE. However, as search engine marketers, we are more interested in the New gTLDs that include keywords, especially when they include popular keywords.

One of the up and coming new gTLDs is .BEST. And as search engine marketers, we have been especially interested in .BEST because according to SEMrush.com, there are over 1 million unique keywords that are searched for every month that include the word "best" in them. While there are a lot of

From SEMrush.com, May 2016

As search engine marketers, we are always studying keywords and how they perform across a multitude of marketing sources, such as search engines, social media websites, and domain names. One of the more important decisions that we marketers face is whether or not we will recommend or use what we call a "keyword rich" domain name, especially one that contains the keyword in the ending, such as .BEST.

The most popular domain name amongst new registrations in the new gTLDs is .xyz, but when it comes to "keyword rich" TLDs, .CLUB and .SCIENCE are on top as of May 2015. It is widely thought that one way to potentially gain some search engine marketing advantage would be to buy a keyword rich domain name that includes the TLD as one of the main keywords. This strategy has been said to not matter when it comes to search engine ranking advantages in Google, though. As early as March, 2012, Matt Cutts, a employee of Google, addressed a myth about the new gTLDs (https://plus.google.com/+MattCutts/posts/4VaWg4TMM5F). Specifically, he said:

<sup>66</sup>Google has a lot of experience in returning relevant web pages, regardless of the top-level domain (TLD). Google will attempt to rank new TLDs appropriately, but I don't expect a new TLD to get any kind of initial preference over .com, and I wouldn't bet on that happening in the long-term either. If you want to register an entirely new TLD for other reasons, that's your choice, but you shouldn't register a TLD in the mistaken belief that you'll get some sort of boost in search engine rankings.

Buying a keyword-rich new gTLD domain name apparently does not carry any extra weight when it comes to actual search engine rankings, at least not in Google's organic search results. But what about actual real-world search engine marketing? What if we were to see what real consumers desired?

We continue to have many questions about the new gTLD domain names that we set out to find out, using real-world data, whether or not the public cares about the domain name when they see it. We set out to test which are better for search engine marketing: .COM domain names or new gTLD domain names?

© GLOBERUNNER .BEST vs .COM CASE STUDY

Globe Runner was commissioned by the .BEST new gTLD to perform a study using both .BEST and .COM domain names. There are so many different keywords and so many keywords each month that are searched for that contain the word "best" that we agreed to perform the study. We see the .BEST new gTLD as one of the best up-and-comers of the new gTLDs.

This white paper includes the results of our May 2016 testing and research. We ran marketing campaigns on Google.com during May 2016 using about 50 keywords per topic, across five very distinct and different industries.

Globe Runner is an Addison, Texas-based digital agency specializing in search engine optimization (SEO), content marketing and digital advertising.
