CHINA INTERNSHIP PLACEMENTS LLC

Launch your career with an Executive Internship in China

CIP CHINA
INTERNSHIP
PLACEMENTS

With competition for career progression tougher than ever before many graduates are finding that even entry level opportunities require significant amounts of experience. Simply having completed an undergraduate degree in a relevant field of study is no longer considered enough as more than Thousands of graduates enter an over-saturated jobs market each year. Candidates are increasingly looking towards internship opportunities to build a strong resume and begin to put their education into practice. After gaining experience on an internship candidates are then faced with the prospect of going head-to-head with similarly educated and equally experienced applicants who have had the same idea to attempt to get ahead. As a result, the ability to stand out from the crowd is depressingly diminished.

But it is not all doom and gloom. An internship opportunity in China will provide your resume with something the other candidates are unlikely to possess. It will open up new opportunities, complement what you have already learned domestically and, at the same time, offer a completely different experience to what you have gained at home. Whatever career path you wish to pursue, there are plenty of reasons why you should consider undertaking an internship in China through China Internship Placements LLC.

At China Internship Placements, we connect interns to real projects within international organizations, groom and mentor them to become corporate executive. We network participants so they will be able to lunch their career in China with permanent Jobs.

Why Undertake an Internship in China?

Experience one of the world's fastest growing economies

Almost 30 years ago China began the process of economic reform taking the country on a path from a poor and introspective communist backwater, to one of the world's most important economies. China is well on its way to becoming the world's next economic superpower and some predict it will replace the United States as the world's largest economy as soon as 2030. Thousands of interns visit China each year just to understand Chinese Business Models that complement their Business acumen. In an attempt, some end up having permanent Jobs, starting business and mastering the Chinese Language

Acquire knowledge of Chinese business strategies

Chinese companies now own some of the world's most famous brands, while goods manufactured in China now fill Western households. China's remarkable development has an impact on people all over the globe. There is no better way to get a glimpse inside real China than to work in a company or organisation located there.

There are several projects that Interns are engaged into and our Executive China Internship Program lobbies to have our interns placed into these programs.

Prepare for future employment internationally

The cultural differences between the UK and China are far reaching. Chinese culture reflects the customs and traditions of one of the largest countries in the world and its impact on the way in which businesses think and operate are instrumental. An internship will help in adapting to the different attitudes and mind sets.

Learn the Chinese language and practice with natives

An internship in China will provide the opportunity to learn and practice Mandarin in all aspects of life. Mandarin is by far the most widely spoken language in the world and possessing the skills to be able to converse it is sure to give you extra brownie points in any job interview situation – particularly amongst multinational organisations conducting business activities in Asia.

Enjoy gap year experiences whilst boosting your employability

There is always the risk that those taking a gap year will fall behind in their career as their chosen industry continues to develop and change while their education and skill set becomes one year older. With internship opportunities in China, graduates are no longer required to differentiate between the pursuit of exploring the world and the desire to embark upon their career.

Engineering

China is the world's largest manufacturing power house and now accounts for a fifth of global manufacturing. In the past five years, revenue for China's engineering industry has been increasing at a rate of 5.8% per year. As China continues to build up its cities and expand inland, the need for engineering experts will continue to stay in high demand.

Green Tech

While China may have the highest CO₂ emissions in the world, it is also one of the most dedicated to green technology incentives as the fastest growing clean energy market. China has ambitious targets for future renewable energy development, particularly in wind power, solar power heating, ethanol, biomass, and small hydropower. By 2020 China plans to have renewable energy account for 15% of the total consumption.

Medical, Public Health & Pharmaceuticals

China is currently embarking on a comprehensive health-care system reform, particularly intended to make it more affordable to the rural poor. Entry to the World Trade Organization in 2001 has transformed the Pharmaceuticals industry in China, with stronger patent control, industry regulation and improved availability of medical insurance. Both Shanghai and Beijing are transforming into global centres for research and development into the drug industry.

E-Commerce

China's e-commerce sector has experienced unprecedented growth in recent years. Chinese consumers love the convenience of shopping online as well as making online game purchases. Led by Alibaba and Tencent, China's huge and rapidly expanding e-commerce market is forecast to be bigger than those in America, Britain, Japan, Germany and France combined by 2020.

Media, Journalism & Publishing

Media in China remains largely government controlled, yet more and more independent media is emerging. China's media development and journalism education have changed to meet new demands brought by political and economic reforms. Dramatic developments in journalism education and practice are occurring. In 2012 alone, 47.6 billion newspaper copies, 3.4 billion magazines, and 8.1 billion books were published.
