GrowthForce snags two “Growth” Awards

Houston, Texas – November 5, 2010 - True to its name, Kingwood, TX based GrowthForce, LLC is a growing business force in the Houston area. The company has been named to the 2010 Houston Business Journal’s Fast 100 list and has also earned a Houston Business Journal’s FastTech 50 Award.

Stephen King, GrowthForce President and CEO was honored at the Hilton Americas Houston Hotel where he accepted two awards from the Houston Business Journal for the second year in a row. GrowthForce placed 25th on the FastTech 50 award, which was given to the Houston high-tech businesses that experienced the highest percentage of revenue growth in 2009. The company also ranked 31st in the Houston Fast 100 which ranks businesses in the Houston metropolitan area by their two year growth.

GrowthForce is Houston's largest provider of outsourced bookkeeping and controller services to businesses that use QuickBooks. King's mission is to reinvent the world of small business bookkeeping. "We want to have a profound impact on business owners by providing them with financial intelligence to run their businesses as smartly as possible in these tough economic times. That's why we're seeing so much growth." King also commented, "Our clients appreciate having a dedicated team to outsource their bookkeeping and Controller function to experts who can give the financial intelligence they need at their fingertips."

GrowthForce was founded in 2004 and is located at 800 Rockmead Dr. Suite 200, in Kingwood, TX. For more information, call 281-358-2007 or visit growthforce.com.
