The Adelaide career advantage

Adelaide offers an additional year of post-study work rights and more for international students.

studyadelaide.com

Adelaide is the perfect place for international students to study and start their careers.

The capital city of South Australia, Adelaide is a vibrant city of 1.3 million where students can enjoy studying at high quality education institutions, with an affordable lifestyle and easy access to cultural activities, beaches and nature.

Adelaide is an economic hub for industries including Health and Medical, Tourism, Food, Wine and Agribusiness, Energy and Minerals, Defence and Space, High-Tech and Creative Industries offering many fantastic career pathways for students.

Additional post-study work rights

An extra year of post-study work rights (subclass 485 visa) is available for graduates of South Australian institutions who have completed a higher education or postgraduate qualification and maintained residence in South Australia as a holder of a first Temporary Graduate Work Visa (Subclass 485).

This additional year is not available to international students studying in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane.

Graduates must apply for their first 485 visa, and if they have resided in South Australia for the duration of this visa, can then apply for the additional year. This means the extra year of post-study work rights will be available to eligible graduates from 2021. Existing Temporary Graduate visa holders may be eligible, provided they can meet the requirements.
