Office Move

Requirement

BTA were commissioned to manage Phaidon's London office move including planning and relocating 160 client workstations, an on-site datacentre as well as transferring the data communications links to their global offices based in Singapore, New York, Zurich.

Solution

A complex office move completed without fuss or downtime.

BTA coordinated, liaised and managed the installation of the leased lines and MPLS global office connections, carried out the required site surveys and planning for the network cable infrastructure implementation, designed and installed an enterprise wireless network based on Cisco Meraki, and specified and managed the on-premises datacentre fit out.

The day of the move, BTA supplied all the required labour and engineering resource for decommissioning the network and server infrastructure at the old premises, packaged and transported all the equipment to the new location and then reconnected every workstation, switch and server into its new location. The whole project was done with minimal disruption to the business and little down-time to the global offices and the entire business was up and running on Monday morning in their new premises!
