

Anaheim, CA. Award-winning toy company Skullduggery releases their new indoor action disc game Aero Flixx.

Skullduggery has been manufacturing fossil replicas, craft kits, and toys in the United States since 1987. Their product line includes Krazy Kars, Marble Copters, Eyewitness Kits, Cast & Paint, High End Replica's, Classroom Kits and now Aero Flixx. Their Marble Racer have won numerous awards including Creative Child Magazine Top Toy of the Year, Oppenheim Best Toy, Toy Directory Best Selling Specialty Toy, Top Ten Toy Under $10, and Top Ten Most Wanted Die-Cast Toy.

Aero Flixx is Skullduggery's indoor action disc game. There are 40 discs to collect and trade and each 4 inch disc contains a cool 3D on one side and foam backing on the other. A rubber band powered target is available at which the discs are tossed and a direct hit propels the target 5 - 6 feet in the air. Kids can play indoor disc golf, H*O*R*S*E, shooting gallery, or other precision games using Aero Flixx' 3D throwing discs, target and target launcher. Aero Flixx and other Skullduggery toys are available at ToysRUs and other toy stores nationwide.

President Steve Koehl says that it is becoming a popular holiday item as "everyone wants to be the one that hits the target." The the concept to design Aero Flixx stems from his days of target practice as a kid with his brother and friends trying to get playing cards in the bucket. They created the rubber band target to further the motor skills needed to hit the target.

Bill St. John of Be Smart Toys, LLC says "Aero Flixx is an addicting game that shows up as a modern day skills challenge. It holds the challenge of darts and the collectability of trading cards. My retailers love it." And Melissa Northway, author and creator of website Dandelion Moms says "the kids in the neighborhood fell in love with Aero Flixx and take turns trying to hit the target and keeping score."

Skullduggery is a family-owned business run by brothers Steve and Peter, and their father, Pete Koehl. They are proud to support local charities and over the years have provided toys for the Toys for Tots program and this year will donate to The Sheepfold, a local shelter for women and children, and the Apps for Children with Special Needs (A4cwsn) community.

Skullduggery is located in Anaheim, California and has provided quality USA Made toys for over 25 years. You can find their award-winning toys at ToysRUs and specialty toy stores nationwide.
