

LIVING LEADERSHIP™

Accountable leaders deliver consistent results while modeling cultural values

BUSINESS ISSUE

When you're a leader, it's imperative that you demonstrate personal accountability for delivering your committed results while living the corporate values. And, it's equally important that you hold others to the same standard! Of course, sometimes circumstances conspire to impede your progress towards your goal and staying the course becomes a challenge in itself. Leader's Imperatives meets these challenges head-on by capturing the core drivers of successful leadership and translating them into terms of mental stamina and results-centered behavior.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

You will learn to:

- Demonstrate accountability and stay the course, even in the face of significant setbacks
- Create an environment of accountability for direct reports
- Become the example of learning in action; establish a culture of continuous personal and performance development
- Recognize the difference between decision-making and discernment; identify the most appropriate course of action from several options
- Model cultural and value imperatives while consistently delivering excellent results

THE LEARNER EXPERIENCE

This full-day leadership module features an experiential approach that favors participant engagement over the traditional 'stand-and-deliver' format. The multi-mode delivery will have you fully immersed in the content via lively discussions, illustrative videos and case studies, while group activities and action planning will help to create the links to real-world application. You'll unpack the five imperatives that drive successful leadership, explore the conditions and events that can break a leader's spirit (and learn how to overcome them!), and discover and practice the attributes that define the leadership mindset—and in turn become equipped to create a culture of accountability that is rooted in corporate values and personal integrity.
