New Affiliation with Women’s Resource Center Helps More Families Benefit from Divorce Mediation

Wayne, PA, July 15, 2013- Main Line Family Law Center, a divorce mediation firm with seven offices along the Main Line, announces its affiliation with Women’s Resource Center (WRC) located in Wayne. The partnership will help raise awareness around divorce mediation as a viable option for almost anyone regardless of means or circumstances.

“Women’s Resource Center is happy to welcome Cris Pastore, of Main Line Family Law Center as an affiliate attorney,” says Angela Marchesani, MA, coordinator of volunteers and programs for WRC. The Affiliate Program at WRC helps connect women in need with local professionals.

“Many of our clients need support through the transition of divorce,” Marchesani adds. “Divorce mediation has been a growing trend over the past 10-15 years, and we are glad to be able to refer them this under-utilized option in our community.” Cris Pastore, Esq., is president and managing attorney-mediator at Main Line Family Law Center.

Plans are underway to work together to raise awareness and help to make divorce a healthier process for all involved. Pastore will offer free legal consultations on legal nights organized by WRC. WRC volunteers will also be trained to refer appropriate candidates to Main Line Family Law Center for divorce mediation. Main Line Family Law Center will also have the opportunity to lead “healthy divorce” workshops for women and their soon-to-be ex spouses about the divorce mediation process.

“Women who need legal help have turned to Women’s Resource Center, which is in the heart of the Main Line community, for over 30 years, says Pastore. “When we started this firm in 2011, it was our belief that almost anyone with the proper emotional support and basic legal education could benefit from divorce mediation process. Working with Women’s Resource Center opens up all kinds of possibilities to realize that vision.”

Main Line Family Law Center also works closely with Katey Moody, BSc, MBACP who facilitates Coming Out of Marriage, a divorce support group of Women’s Resource Center.
