

MedicsPortal from ADS: Accessibility Connectivity, Productivity

The difference between “on line” and “online” is one little space, but that little space makes all the difference in the world.

For example, a patient can wait on line at a medical practice's intake area to fill out paperwork and questionnaires attached to a clipboard, or that same patient can go online and complete that same “paperwork” electronically anytime at the patient's convenience, 24 x 7 x 365.

When the patient arrives at the practice, there is no waiting "on line" because the data had already been entered by the patient securely "online!"

There is no clipboard, no inordinate amount of time needed by the patient to manually complete forms, and no inordinate amount of time needed by the practice staff to manually transcribe the information on the paperwork into the system.

But electronic “paperwork” is only one aspect of MedicsPortal. Patients can:

- Request appointments without having to speak with office staff, eliminating time on hold and reducing incoming calls to the practice
- Securely view lab results and medical information on their own, to the extent the practice wants to make this data available
- Communicate securely with the practice
- Edit their own information without requiring staff assistance for patient address and phone number changes, insurance coverage updates, etc.

Using MedicsPortal could not be easier. The patient simply logs onto the portal with a username and password which is known only to the patient.

Nothing connects your practice with your patients - and vice versa - like MedicsPortal.
Your practice is "open" 24 x 7 x 365 with MedicsPortal!
