

DP Solutions Event Code of Conduct

DP Solutions' events are intended for the sole purpose of allowing attendees to learn and gather educational information about technology trends for their organization.

While we do have time set aside for networking at each event, this is a sales-free environment and we do not condone attendees attempting to solicit or sell their products and/or services to other attendees. Attending with the purpose of promoting yourself or business will result in immediate removal from the event.

If you'd like to explore partnership opportunities with DP Solutions, please send an email to marketing@dpsolutions.com and we will be happy to discuss this with you outside of DP Solutions' event forum.

Thank you for your cooperation!

DP Solutions

