THE POWER TO MAKE IT HAPPEN

Automated Reporting

Removing repetitive, costly administration from reporting procedures

Automated Reporting

By automating reporting procedures on a scheduled basis or business event you ensure that business rules are enforced, repetitive administration and reporting errors are removed and that decision makers have the most current information to analyse.
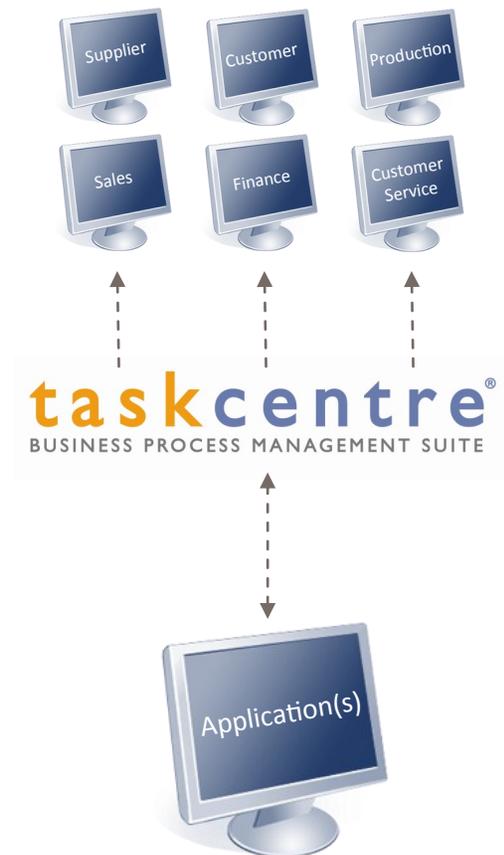

Orbis Software and its global partner community have collaborated to deliver the drag and drop functionality you need to quickly and simply automate your reporting procedures.

The Problem:

Consistent management reporting ensures compliance procedures are adhered to, decision makers are empowered and that company performance can be monitored, analysed and improved. Yet, report generation and distribution can be repetitive, error prone and costly.

The Solution:

TaskCentre can automate the creation and distribution of business reports therefore eradicating costly employee administration, ensuring compliance and improving data visibility.

Automating sales and marketing reports

Campaign, KPI and sales performance reports are the backbone of the sales and marketing teams. They provide valuable insights into company strengths and weaknesses. However, these reports can be time consuming to produce and often require data from multiple databases.

TaskCentre can automate the creation and delivery of practically any sales and marketing report enabling managers and decision makers to focus on identifying data insights or opportunities.

Automating stock management reports

Proactive stock level reporting is a critical success factor to businesses involved within the manufacturing, sale or movement of goods. Without effective reporting delays can occur, stock can perish and customers may suffer poor customer service. Yet report creation and distribution can be a time consuming process and prone to errors.

TaskCentre can automate the creation and delivery of stock level reports on either a scheduled basis or business event e.g. a large order being placed. Employees benefit from less administration and 100% accurate reports.

Automating financial reports

Standard or company specific financial reports can often require contribution from multiple departments e.g. waste reports from production. Multiple points of contribution adds complexity, repetitive administration and errors to the reporting process.

TaskCentre can automate the creation and delivery of financial reports regardless of which business application the data resided within. It will also run reports to your exact business rules.
