

Youth for Climate ACTION PANEL

Once we start to act, hope is everywhere. — GRETA THUNBERG

For decades science has plainly stated that climate change poses an urgent threat to life on this planet, yet society's response has failed to meet the scale of the problem. The Youth for Climate Action Panel will address the state of the crisis, as well as what collective and individual changes are necessary to protect our shared future.

Location

Newman Auditorium
Santa Rosa Junior College

Date and time

Monday May 13th, 12:00-1:30

Co-hosts

Center for Applied Consciousness and ScientistsWarning.org

CA Congressman Jared Huffman represents the 2nd district. He serves on the Climate Crisis Select Committee and was one of our first political leaders to support the Green New Deal.

Laura Neish is the ED of 350 Bay Area, a regional climate justice group and parent organization of student-led Youth vs Apocalypse, which led the March 15th youth strikes against climate change in San Francisco.

Sophie Anderson and Jonathan Palash-Mizner are high-school sophomores and the co-founders of XR Youth US, the national youth branch of Extinction Rebellion (XR) in the US. XR is a non-violent movement opposing climate change through direct action.

Jeffrey Schmidt's firm Agency for Earth is a social marketing company dedicated to eco-education, restoring ecosystems for future generations and making business into a force for good.

AGENCY FOR EARTH
Tools For Sustainability

Sign up on Eventbrite:
climate-panel-srjc.eventbrite.com
FREE ADMISSION