

PwC UK - Making Locations Stand Out

Benivo for PwC delivers an excellent experience to employees and helps to make locations stand out.

To ensure they attract the best talent, PwC focuses not only on a good financial package and stimulating work, but also on career development and establishing a culture where all employees, whatever their commitments outside of work, can flourish. From flexible hours and career breaks to job sharing and homeworking, PwC is committed to providing a truly healthy work-life balance.

As part of these continuing efforts to deliver a better experience to employees, PwC UK engaged with Benivo to provide a solution for employees based in the UK, using technology and unique peer-to-peer data to promote opportunities in one of its central offices and attract the best talent to work there.

Help make a location stand out

Challenge

PwC attracts top talent for diverse locations and wanted to enable its talent to explore one particular location before moving there.

Solution

Benivo built excitement around the new location with personalised content and social insights on a beautifully designed platform.

“

The feedback on the final solution has been very positive.

Laura Hinton, Chief People Officer, PwC

Execute high quality solutions, fast

Challenge

PwC had an urgent need to launch a bespoke technology platform to showcase the location in less than 30 days.

Solution

Benivo dedicated resources, and worked closely with the PwC team, to deliver high quality on a tight deadline.

“

In Benivo we had a partner that could deliver fast, and to our requirements.

Heather Richardson, Director, PwC

Deliver clever solutions to tough challenges

Challenge

PwC wanted to generate excitement about a new location and upgrade the welcome experience for employees.

Solution

Benivo consultants participated in brainstorm sessions and shared best practice from industry experience for optimal solutions.

“

What I liked about Benivo is that they were also able to tell us what we shouldn't do, and why. Top team!

Heather Richardson, Director, PwC
