3 Dot Theology: Sovereignty, Urgency and Responsibility

1. The Bible makes it clear that we are to share the Gospel with our words, but it has become popular to promote and focus on just loving people with our actions.
 - How well do we model the importance of both caring AND sharing to our students?
 - What can we do to help our students see the importance of sharing their faith out loud, with words?
2. Greg spent a fair amount of time talking about hell. What can we do to help our students understand the reality of hell and that this is a real place they or their friends could end up if they do not believe in Jesus Christ?
3. Greg alluded to our tendency to “connect the dots”.
 - In what ways are we tempted to “connect the dots”? Why do you think we do this?
 - How can we remind ourselves and our students of the importance of and the separation of each “dot”?
