March 2020 Release Notes

Employee List Page

- a. We made and are continuing to make investments to improve the performance of this page. You can already see some of these improvements, and you can expect the others to go live over the next several weeks. Ultimately, you should find that the page loads more than 50% faster than it has historically and that it is generally more pleasant to use.
- b. The employee contact information that appears on the page for each employee is more helpful to have "at your fingertips" than the subgroup membership information that was there before.
- c. We are moving the employee search bar into the secondary navigation so that it is available no matter where you are within the "Employees" primary navigation - in other words, you don't have to go back to the main "List" page every time you want to search for another employee.
- d. In place of where the employee search bar had been, you'll see an "Employee per page" dropdown that will allow HR to indicate how many employees should appear on the "List" page. The default will be 20 (down from the current default of 50), and HR now has dropdown options for how many should appear. Whatever HR changes it to will "persist" until HR changes it again. In other words, it won't reset back to 20 when HR navigates away from the page. The lower the number of employees per page that HR selects, the faster the page will load.
- e. The existing "filter" dropdown will also persist - meaning it will not reset to show all employees after HR navigates away from the page. It will only change when HR changes it and it will persist until HR changes it again.
