Gain critical insights from your financial data with the Chrome River ERP Connector

Gaining visibility into manual processes is difficult. But with the integration of Chrome River and SAP ERP solutions you can take control of your financial data. With this offering you can easily automate your workflows, gain insights into your financial data and become more efficient so that you can focus on growing your business. Having a holistic view of your financial data is critical and empowers you to make critical business decisions based on accurate, timely data.

The Chrome River ERP Connector is an SAP-certified integration that will enhance Chrome River EXPENSE customers' visibility into employee spend and reimbursement, while improving the finance team's ability to monitor information flow between the two systems. There are several levels of implementation offered with this integration so that you can easily get set up and determine your objectives when using these systems together.

Minimize Resource Utilization

With minimal involvement from your IT staff, the Chrome River ERP Connector empowers your organization to eliminate inefficient processes including manually synchronizing financial data between your expense management and financial system. Intuitive and flexible configuration allows you to adjust your data to your business needs.

Automation and Accuracy

Gaining automation with accuracy is key. With real-time data synchronization between Chrome River and SAP, you are ensured that data is not subject to error or manual mistakes, providing complete transparency into your financial data. This will minimize delays and make your business run more efficient.

Connect Globally

Being disconnected with your global offices is a thing of the past. The Chrome River ERP Connector provides unmatched scalability so that your SAP systems across global locations can benefit from this streamlined integration. As a truly global solution, you will have peace of mind knowing your financial data is intact across office locations.

Eliminate manual processes

- Eliminate the manual, time-consuming process of exporting and importing flat files to update your ERP, saving time and cutting costs.

Flexible configuration

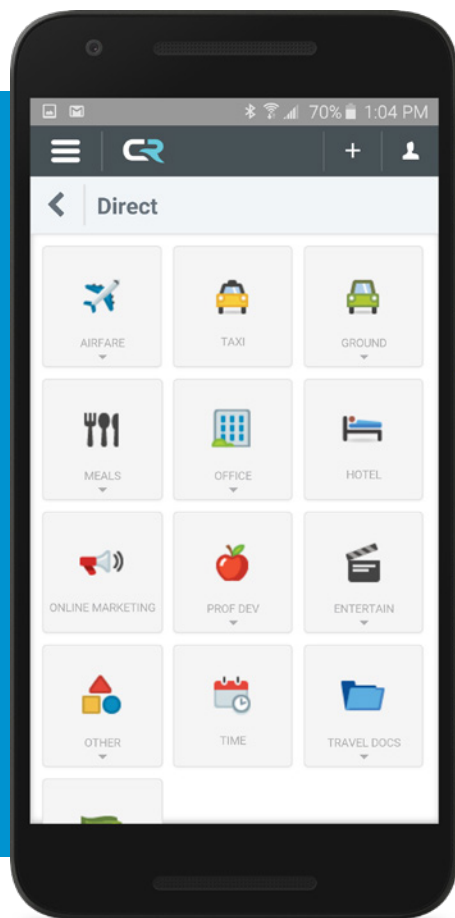

- Adjust any interface within your environment with intuitive configuration.

Gain insights through enhanced visibility

- Monitor the flow of information between systems by leveraging visibility into key financial data such as person information, entities, allocations, expense reports, and customer payments.

Minimize risk with automation

- Ensure consistency between data in SAP and Chrome River with near real-time synchronization without errors or delays.

Integrated industry-leading solutions provide visibility necessary for strategic business decisions.
