PLEASE NOTE: The Masterclass will be presented in English

What Gives Leaders a Strategic Advantage?

Vision: Understanding how to use big data and AI and gain value from it. They know what is possible to achieve and are working towards realizing their vision.

Big data: All Pharma have big data - the winners know where it is, and don't worry about the gaps. They access the data they need to solve the challenges they have.

AI analytics: The only way to analyze big data is with Artificial Intelligence. The right AI techniques for that data combination will yield optimal results.

Tools: Using technology to enable the right data to be combined, and analyzed by the right AI techniques for it, to create what is needed to achieve the vision.

Insights: Having the right team to understand how to integrate all the pieces together to deliver optimal results.

Execution: Great insights are a good start, but they must be put to work. They must also be adapted with the dynamic changes found in the data and continue to evolve with the market.

If you want to understand how to achieve excellence in these, this Masterclass is for you.

“We always had the problem that we had a lot of data but it still required guesswork and gut feeling to get us to our strategic marketing decisions. I wasn't sure you would be able to show me more than I already knew. However, this Workshop really showed me how to connect the data and the decisions, and we now have repeatable improving sales results from implementing this.”

Gain a Competitive Advantage from Big Data and AI in Pharma Sales & Marketing

Masterclass Agenda

- Big data, AI and Pharma: A brief history
- The artificial myths of Artificial Intelligence
- What AI is, and what it is not
- AI for Pharma: applications and tools
- Real world Pharma AI case studies
- Anatomy of an AI company
- Business challenge workshop: What AI can do for you
- Getting the best from your data and AI providers

Are you:

- Planning a launch and want to ensure all the pieces are infallibly in place to beat the odds of 2/3 drugs failing to meet analysts' expectations?
- Worried about pricing and don't want to fall into the traps of Zaltrap and other launch failures due to inadequate pricing techniques?
- In need to know without doubt which channels are providing what lift and how to improve that?
- Needing metrics to help you make better informed strategic marketing decisions?
- Wanting to know how to better equip your sales force to better engage the physicians towards your brand?
- Trying to predict which physicians are likely to switch away from your brand before they do so you can re-engage them?
- Interested to know which physicians are becoming attracted to your brands before they actually start prescribing them, and how to hasten that journey?
- Trying to understand your individual customers (patients, physicians and payers) to know how to better align your sales and marketing to their needs to increase engagement and loyalty to your brands?
- Mapping your customer's journey to your brand on the fly for every single customer so you can serve up the right content, in the right channel, in the right sequence, at the right time?

If you are a:

- Pharma, Biotech, Animal Health or Medical Devices sales or marketing professional (includes digital marketing)
- Healthcare business insights analyst or analytics team member

Attend this Masterclass to:

- Gain an understanding of all the pros and cons of most major AI techniques to solve the challenges above, and others
- Understand what data you already have that can be used to do this in your market
- Learn what other Pharma have done to solve these challenges using AI, how they did it, and what the results were
- Know how to measurably boost your marketing results for real, repeatable and verifiable market share results
- Understand how AI can revolutionize your digital marketing techniques rather than the inferior approaches that 90% of Pharma digital teams are currently using
- Know how to connect marketing results data and strategic decisions with certainty
- Feel confident in your marketing budget allocation decisions
- Make optimal use of your budget to grow your customer engagement, as well as your sales and profit, measurably

This has to be the most valuable Masterclass any Healthcare Marketer / Healthcare Digital Team Member / Healthcare Analytics Professional could attend.

About Your Trainer: Dr. Andrée Bates

Dr. Bates is the founder and CEO of Eularis. She was an early adopter of Artificial Intelligence and utilized it in academia in the early 1990's to replicate neurological patient test results.
