

JOHN CARROZZA

Chief Financial Officer

John Carrozza, Chief Financial Officer of Trepp, is a seasoned financial executive with over twenty years of experience in the finance and media business sectors. Mr. Carrozza is responsible for the financial, operational, and administrative functions of Trepp. He works closely with the Trepp leadership team to evaluate and uncover areas for continued growth and expansion.

Mr. Carrozza is an active member of DMGI's financial leadership team, working to leverage best practices and build stronger collaboration across business units. He is responsible for overseeing investment decisions and evaluating acquisitions and partnerships for Trepp. In addition, he works closely with business partners to develop, plan, and execute on growth strategies. Mr. Carrozza brings experience working with cross-functional global teams to drive innovation and commercial focus to Trepp.

Prior to joining Trepp, Mr. Carrozza worked for Thomson Reuters, where he held a number of roles including Global Head of Finance for the Investment Management division, Global Head of Finance for Investment Focus Sales, and, most recently, CFO of Reuters News. During his time at Thomson Reuters, Mr. Carrozza led a number of successful acquisitions and integrations to foster innovation in the core business. He was also a Vice President of Financial Planning at CCBN, a provider of web-based solutions for the investment community.

Mr. Carrozza holds a BS in Finance from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and an MBA from Bentley University McCallum Graduate School of Business.
