

How Can You Better Manage Controlled Substances In Your VA Facility?

Keeping track of controlled substances can be a real challenge<sup>1</sup>

Diverted for personal use

Sold on the street

Simply disappeared

Drug losses or theft at federal hospitals<sup>1</sup>:

272
incidents in 2009

2,926
incidents in 2015

2,457
incidents in 2016

Drug diversion at a VA facility:

4,000 Oxycodone pills
3,300 Hydrocodone pills
308 oz. Promethazine with codein syrup
14,000+ Viagra and Cialis pills

Pharmacy technician used his VA access to a medical supplier's web portal to order and divert<sup>3</sup>

Cost of $77,000
to the facility

Street value of $160,000+

How does this affect the community?

Opioids released for illegal use

Patients did not get their medications

Nonadherence to Veterans Health Administration policy at select facilities<sup>2</sup>

Lacked preventive procedures for missed inspections

Written procedures did not fully include the 9 VHA program requirements

Lack of training on required inspection procedures

GAO recommendations for VA medical facilities<sup>2</sup>

1

Establish an additional control procedure

2

Periodically compare facility inspection procedures to VHA's policy requirements

3

Improve training of controlled substance coordinators

4

Design and implement a process to address nonadherence with program requirements

5

Review facilities' quarterly trend reports for nonadherence

6

Establish and implement a review process to comply with VHA's policy requirements
