LITTELFUSE CHINA OPERATIONS

STATEMENT ON CORONAVIRUS

JANUARY 29, 2020

The health, safety and well-being of Littelfuse associates and their families is our top priority. We are closely and actively monitoring the situation and we are taking preventative measures to help mitigate the impact from the coronavirus outbreak. To date, no coronavirus cases have been reported by Littelfuse associates or family members.

Our Littelfuse manufacturing operations in China are currently on a planned shutdown this week for Chinese New Year. Local governments in China have announced mandatory extensions of the Chinese New Year holiday to minimize the spread of the virus. In compliance with these regulations, Littelfuse has extended the Chinese New Year shutdown one week with plans to resume full production on February 10. Our global teams across our manufacturing, supply chain and logistics operations are currently working through contingency plans to limit any possible business interruptions. If you have any questions, please contact your sales representative.
