Why Brexit Makes Compliance, Governance and GDPR Even More Important for Business

Information Governance and the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) are here and are already impacting your business. If you truly believe that you will never handle data relating to an EU citizen, and that the UK will not adopt the similar criteria, either directly or indirectly, then doing nothing to plan your business compliance may be a risk you are willing to take. The majority of businesses do not agree.

Date: 22nd September 2016 Venue: Reed Smith LLP, Broadgate Tower, 20 Primrose Street, London, EC2A 2RS. Duration: 9am - 11am

The long term impact of Britain leaving the EU is unknown hence we have entered a period of relative uncertainty. We do know that sometime in 2017, Article 50 will be invoked, and the government will/has started to form an exit strategy and consider the likely implications. Many businesses having waited for the outcome of the referendum not need prepare for Brexit, changes in Governance and for the GDPR. Those who assumed that Brexit meant they would be able to ignore the GDPR and compliance requirements altogether do so at their peril.

Join leading experts Dr. Donald Macfarlane, James Donnelly, Mark Williamson together with Steve Couling for an in depth discussion on why Brexit makes it even more vital to get compliant. Discuss the facts, reality and what to do now including web/intranet implications and including real world examples of best practice. Consider how modern Information Governance process de-risks data silos and the easy ways to start your journey to full compliance via good governance. Brexit may have been voted for but in reality the UK is likely to apply similar business rules to the rest of Europe. Gain a valuable understanding of todays investigation, compliance and Early Case Assessment technologies towards meeting our obligations.

Each delegate will leave the seminar having:

- A detailed understanding of GDPR current requirements
- Specific examples from worldwide investigative bodies, banking and insurance including if it is viewable in a web browser or a PC/tablet you can and in some cases must capture it defensibly; and
- Insight into current, complementary investigation and ECA technology capabilities.
