Guide Overview:

In the final guide of our GDPR series, we offer our entire range of GDPR content from an exclusive seminar, written and delivered by the Partner and Head of Commercial, IP and IT of BPE Solicitors.

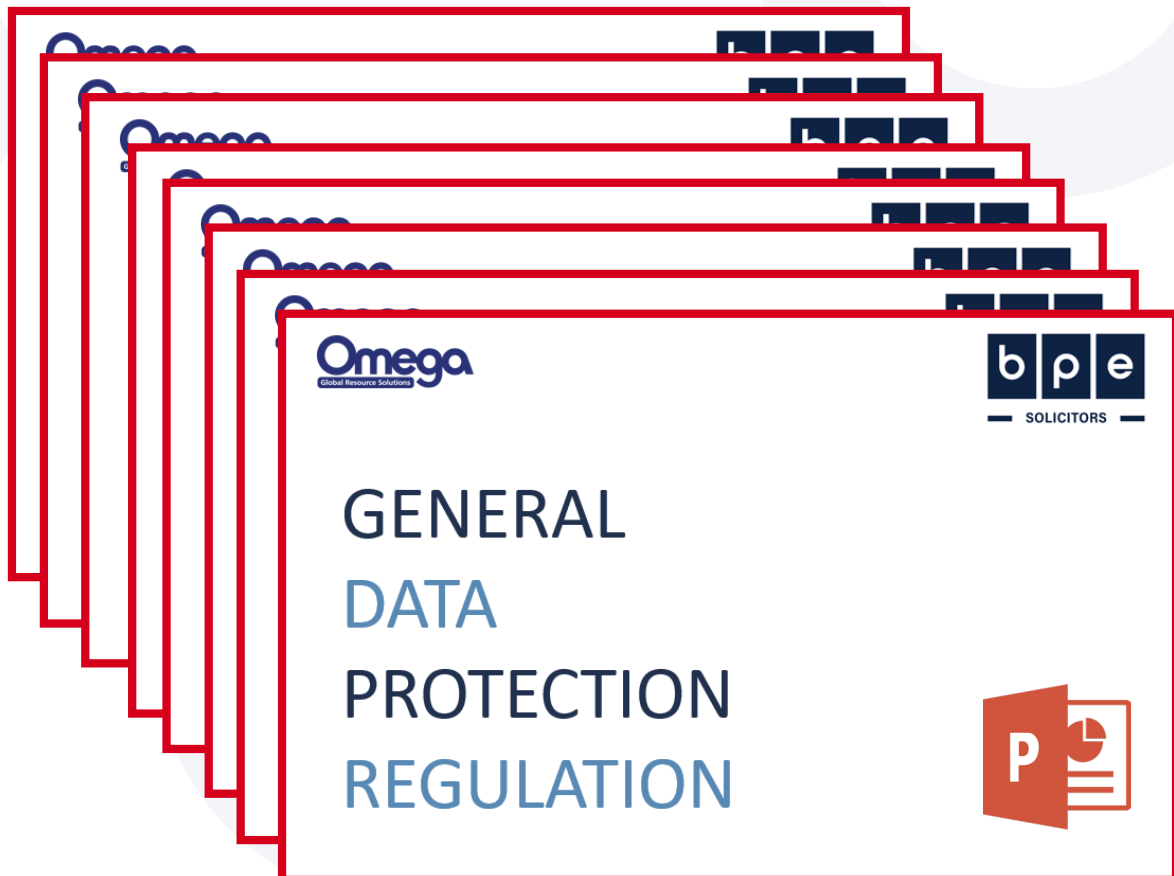

The GDPR is due to be implemented on the 25th May 2018, but there are still UK businesses that have yet to design a strategy to ensure GDPR compliancy. This pack offers a complete overview and recommended action plan for UK organisations.

Included in this guide:

- GDPR Seminar Video 1: Introduction
- GDPR Seminar Video 2: Data Protection Principles
- GDPR Seminar Video 3: Lawful Processing & Consent
- GDPR Seminar Video 4: Data Subject Rights
- GDPR Seminar Video 5: Controller's Duties
- GDPR Seminar Video 6: Business Contracts, Data Breaches and Impact Assessment
- GDPR Seminar Video 7: International Transfers & Data Processing
- GDPR Seminar Video 8: Penalties & Action Plan

Introduction

Brief Description:

This introductory video gives a brief overview of the seminar, with an insight into points that will be covered throughout. Other sections include a timeframe of the current Data Protection Act and the introduction of the GDPR, a comparison of the length of the GDPR legislation compared to various other UK laws and a list of key definitions that the GDPR holds.

Data Protection Principles

Brief Description:

The GDPR, like the current Data Protection Act, is underpinned by a number of principles. In this second video, each of the six key principles are explained and simplified, for better understanding.

Lawful Processing & Consent

Brief Description:

Under the GDPR, businesses have to process data lawfully. In this context, processing data lawfully means you have to satisfy at least one of six legal grounds. In this video, these legal grounds are highlighted and explained thoroughly. Extra emphasis is given on one of the conditions, consent, as it becomes a very specific concept come the date of implementation.

Data Subject Rights

Brief Description:

Individuals have their own rights under the current Data Protection Act, but come the 25th May, they will have more rights under the GDPR. In this video, we pursue these rights in detail, giving various examples of necessary process.

Controller's Duties

Brief Description:

In our fifth video, we pursue the key duties as the Data Controller, including keeping security tight, adequate record keeping and whether your business needs a Data Protection Officer (DPO).

6

Business Contracts, Data Breaches and Impact Assessment

Brief Description:

When it comes to specific data processing contracts, there are mandatory clauses that will need to be included. In this video, we explain what a GDPR-compliant contract looks like, as well as a brief discussion on data stored in The Cloud, how to combat data breaches and how to report them to the ICO, and more.

International Transfers & Data Processing

Brief Description:

If your business transfers data overseas, whether it's intentional or not, it is your business's responsibility to ensure that the data is appropriately protected and stored. We explore how organisations can best protect its cross-border data, and a further insight into data processing, specifically in the HR and Marketing fields.
