How can FoundationACT help me?

With a simple blood draw, FoundationACT can examine your blood for the 62 most commonly-mutated genes in solid tumors. The DNA in your blood often holds the information needed to determine which genes have been altered and are causing your disease.

After careful analysis, we provide your doctor with personalized molecular information in an easy-to-read report that highlights detected alterations and the associated targeted therapies and clinical trials. Your personalized genomic report may help you and your oncologist make better treatment decisions specific to your needs.

How do I get FoundationACT?

4 SIMPLE STEPS:

1

Ask your doctor if you are a good candidate for FoundationACT.

2

Your doctor places an order for FoundationACT.

(Note: testing services must be requested by a licensed medical professional)

3

Two tubes of blood are drawn and sent to Foundation Medicine.

4

When results are ready*, meet with your doctor to determine the next steps in your treatment.

*Results are typically available within 14 days

Will the test be covered by my insurance?

When you request that Foundation Medicine bill your insurance company, our policy is to file claims and pursue any necessary appeals on your behalf for the testing services completed. Foundation Medicine testing services are covered by a number of national and regional health plans, and we are an in-network provider with an increasing number of health plans.

Does Foundation Medicine offer financial assistance?

If you have a cost concern, you may submit a financial assistance application in advance of ordering FoundationACT and you will receive a response within 1-2 business days. Foundation Medicine works with every patient within their ability to pay, also taking into consideration extenuating circumstances, as each patient's financial situation is unique. Foundation Medicine has helped thousands of patients gain insight into their genomic information and potential treatment options, ensuring that cost is not a barrier to testing.
