

Position: Senior Software Quality Assurance Specialist

About BioConnect

BioConnect is a rapidly-growing biometric technology and software company. We have set out on a mission to change the way society verifies identity. We believe that people want to use their true, biometric identity to verify who they are instead of relying on approximations of identity like keys, fobs, passwords and PINs that can be lost, forgotten or stolen. BioConnect has an incredibly unique vision and way of doing things, much like our team members. Our team is forward thinking, self-fuelled, relentlessly passionate and centered around unbeatable customer service. Our modern, open-concept office in the heart of Liberty Village, Toronto, is filled with energy, passion, and... dare we say it? Fun.

Requirements and Skills we are looking for:

- Create test plans, test scripts from business requirements for functional and acceptance testing
- Test script creation using Nunit or Microsoft Unit Testing Framework
- Good understanding of .net framework and C#
- Experience in reviewing project requirements for risk assessment and allocation of QA resources
- Experience in testing client server, mobile and web applications
- Experience in defect verification
- Experience in auditing QA process across the whole company
- Indepth understanding of software development life cycle
- Release iteration planning for multiple projects

Need to have:

- Experience defining and implementing processes to test mobile and web applications.
- Understanding or ideas on how to test distributed systems.
- Experience in conducting training of QA processes.
- Github/Bitbucket account with cool projects.
- BS or MS in Computer Science
