Prysm Visual Workplace

Redefine Your Workplace for the Future

The workplace has forever changed. Today's employees are more mobile, digital and geographically spread out than ever before. While offices used to be places where employees had to go for fixed periods of time in order to get their work done, employees now have the flexibility to work anywhere, at any time. In fact, 25% of meetings occur with at least one remote employee[1].

There is a new mandate for companies to create a flexible, engaging workplace that connects in-office and remote employees in order to achieve faster outcomes. The upside is significant. Recent studies show that companies making this shift can expect up to 67% higher productivity and up to 53% higher employee engagement[2].

Prysm Visual Workplace offers a new way to get work done — from planning to preparing to executing on meeting actions. Prysm solutions unify content and existing communication applications into engaging, cloud-based workplaces that help teams drive results.
