

WINTER GARDEN

222 Berkeley Street, Boston

Project Partners

Elkus Manfredi Architects
Gilbane Construction

Trends

Rejuvenate public space
Preserve Neoclassic aesthetic
Repurpose space usage

Solutions

Furniture

Garden Retreat | Photos © Eric Laignel

Rejuvenated space embraces the neoclassic aesthetic with a modern appeal

The Winter Garden at 222 Berkeley, a 22-story Class A office and retail building, underwent an extraordinary renovation to attract tenants and visitors and foster a sense of community. Embracing the neoclassical aesthetic and preserving the majesty of the daylit space, the open area was transformed into a contemporary garden retreat that serves as a living room for the building. The main lobby leads up to monumental stairs into the winter garden conservatory on the second floor, a five story high open space that functions as tribune and public meeting place.

