New kintone For Non-profits Provides Qualified 501(c)(3) Organizations with Affordable, Full Access to No-code Application Development Platform

Non-profits Can Save Time and Money by Capitalizing on the 'Citizen Developer' Trend to Build Highly Customized Apps Rapidly

San Francisco – (May 3, 2016) – kintone, a leading cloud-based “no-code” custom-build business applications platform, launched a new initiative designed to provide qualified NGOs and 501(c)(3) non-profits with access to kintone’s enterprise application-Platform-as-a Service (aPaaS) at a deep discount. Non-profits can now leverage kintone to easily build custom business and database applications for program management, donor relationship management, operations, fundraising and more.

“Our no-code platform is ideal for non-profits. They can now take control of creating the-specific applications ~~that are ideal for their needs~~ with no coding expertise whatsoever,” said Dave Landa, COO of kintone. “kintone For Non-profits eliminates the need to spend money on hiring IT staff or consultants which allows them to designate more funds, and time, to achieving their core objectives.”

Adaptive Sports USA, a premier resource for sport and recreation opportunities in the U.S., is already putting kintone For Non-profits to work by using it to simplify the program registration process. The 501(c)(3)-designated organization promotes athletic development through education, coaching and competition. It is recognized by the United States Olympic Committee as a multi-sport organization and is the sole U.S. member of the International Wheelchair & Amputee Sports Federation; providing athletes with access to international competitions.

“As a nationally recognized non-profit, we attend the needs of athletes with disabilities with a variety of programs and resources that support their passions,” said Kate Wright, manager of office operations for Adaptive Sports USA. “We saw an immediate fit for the kintone platform as a solution that could simplify our program registration process and analysis of client registration data which we now spend a great deal of time on. By taking the complexity out of these tasks, we can spend more time creating and rolling out great programs for our athletes.”
