

KNOWLEDGE...

because your career does not come with a guarantee.

To succeed in today's banking world, bank officers need the wisdom and expertise that comes from perception and insight, an astute ability to discover, discern and decide. It's that kind of knowledge that the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University has been offering to experienced bank officers for almost 70 years.

Completion of the GSB program has become a standard prerequisite to professional advancement in many banks. Bank officers at multi-billion dollar institutions, as well as small community bankers, find that the School's curriculum addresses their educational needs.

The course of study at the Graduate School of Banking spans 25 months, with three two-week resident sessions. During these resident sessions, bankers/students receive more than 200 hours of classroom instruction. Organized evening study, written examinations and bank study projects between resident sessions are an integral part of the School's comprehensive program.

The course is challenging, and students must have a commitment to a high degree of personal discipline to graduate. But those that make it leave with a new kind of knowledge...

...knowledge that will set them apart —

in front, at the top!

I have been involved with my state banking school for the past 17 years as both student and an administrative capacity. When I decided to attend graduate school of banking, I had several other options besides LSU. Looking back, I know that I made the best choice with regard to the future of my career. The Graduate School of Banking at LSU taught me so many lessons that I could apply to my day-to-day life immediately. I truly appreciate this school for the instruction and direction and I truly appreciate my Bank for investing in my future.

STUDENT PROFILE

An important benefit of the GSB program is the knowledge gained from interaction with fellow students. The relationships developed during the resident sessions have been found by graduates to be of immeasurable benefit to them and their organizations.

In the 2017 session, two thirds of the bankers/ students held the rank of vice president or higher, almost 70 percent of the students had over five years of experience in banking, and approximately 90 percent held at least one college degree.

The student body represents banks from under $100 million to over $200 billion in assets with the median bank size being in the $500-$1 billion range. The number of women bank officers enrolled in the GSB has grown in recent years. In 2017, 106 of the 551 bankers attending the GSB were women.
