ROCHESTER, MICHIGAN—September, 2016)— OneStream Software LLC, leader in Corporate Performance Management (CPM) solutions, announced OneStream XF continues to consistently optimize and provide powerful financial reporting and eliminate unnecessary technical complexity for the mid to large enterprise.

“OneStream welcomes Evoqua to its growing list of live and successful customers,” says Tom Shea, President of OneStream Software. “Evoqua diversified from Siemens and required their own robust Corporate Performance Management solution capable of managing their continued growth and development. Their business units stretched across North America, Europe and Asia and they greatly needed to standardize management and external reporting as well as automate their intercompany eliminations and currency translations. OneStream XF delivered enhanced financial reporting with an ease of use and extensibility unmatched by any other CPM product on the market. By downloading our XF MarketPlace solutions, Evoqua readily extended the value of their platform at no added cost. Frankly, there is no substitute for the value of having one application that can deliver multiple solutions without adding technical complexity.”
