As a facility manager of a sporting venue, you're the team captain for your maintenance and custodial crews. Your teams rely on you to provide tools and resources to help them succeed on a day-to-day basis. Guide your team to success with AkitaBox, the facility management software that's powerful, yet easy-to-use. Our software empowers facilities teams to collect valuable space data, automate daily maintenance tasks and improve efficiency of operations.

With AkitaBox, customization is the name of the game. Our facility management software is designed to be user-friendly and highly customizable. Custom-tailor your software experience with color-coordinated asset pins, customizable fields for asset mapping, personalized maintenance schedules.

Tackle your space data.

No time to collect your facility's space data? No problem. At AkitaBox, we do the heavy lifting for you. Our experienced team members will come on site, collect your facility's space data, and handle all standardization and software integration processes — often in as little as 90 days. In the meantime, you'll be able to focus on what really matters: delivering the ultimate experience.

Defend your space.

Facility managers know that asset storage space is a commodity. Asset and storage space may be quick to disappear, especially with constant stadium renovations. By providing powerful space data, AkitaBox helps facilities teams prove their case and save their space. With accurate reporting, your team will be able defend the square footage of space it needs to be successful.

Score big with preventative maintenance plans.

As many maintenance teams know, it's incredibly easy to become overwhelmed as backlogged maintenance issues pile up. Reduce your team's stress and frustration by taking advantage of AkitaBox's preventative maintenance scheduling tool. With early identification, your team will be able to prevent unplanned asset breakdowns and collateral damage.

Bring home the win for your facilities team.

AkitaBox has the software capabilities your team needs to be successful. Our software can be used on any internet-connected device, making our platform convenient and highly accessible. On your personalized dashboard, your team will find vital statistics on work orders completed, average hours per work order, number of service requests submitted and more. AkitaBox is the key to producing useful, accurate data that your team can rely on.
