

About the Point Six Wireless Acquisition

For Point Six Wireless Customers

Working with a larger organization is an exciting opportunity for Point Six Wireless (PSW), and we're committed to maintaining our customer relationships and providing uninterrupted hardware, software and support services. In other words, PSW customers are in control of their experience. If you're interested in learning about the extensive knowledge and services provided by Mesa Labs (Mesa), then we'll talk about it. Technical support is now grown with Mesa and the PSW group combined. And, if your service contract is with a third party, it will remain there. Moving forward, new contracts will be purchased directly from Mesa.

Get to Know Mesa

Mesa Labs, Inc. is a U.S. based public company headquartered in Colorado with additional domestic and international locations. With over 350 employees, Mesa has a global footprint to serve a broad set of industries that require dependable quality control and calibration solutions.

The Continuous Monitoring division designs, develops and markets environmental monitoring systems. Mesa is ISO/IEC 17025:2005 accredited for chemical, temperature, humidity, pressure and torque calibrations. With a broad range of accredited instruments, Mesa helps hospitals, pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers, blood banks, laboratories, pharmacies and industrial facilities maintain critical environments.

For the past 36 years, Mesa has helped companies protect vulnerable environments and ensure the safety and efficacy of the products we consume every day.